Sentencing on April 28

Arnold Guilty of Manslaughter First

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

A County Court jury of nine men and three women shortly after noon today convicted Rodney Arnold, 30, a state correctional institution guard, of Kerhonkson of first degree manslaughter.

County Court Judge Raymond J. Mino set April 28 at 11 a. m. as the date for sentencing.

The jury, which deliberated for nine hours and 15 minutes, found Arnold guilty of the shooting death of 31-year-old Elizabeth Blaustein near Accord on the morning of June 1, 1970.

The jurors began deliberations at 11 a.m. Tuesday following an 80-minute charge by Judge Mino as to the law the jury must apply in arriving at a verdict. Two alternate jurors, a man and a woman, were excused from further participation in the trial.

Judge Mino reminded the jurors that the defendant had pleaded innocent to the murder indictment, denying the allegations that he caused the death of Mrs. Blaustein by shooting her with the 9mm automatic pistol in evidence at the trial.

Mino explained that one of four verdicts could be reported by the jury, intentional murder, manslaughter first degree, which would charge Arnold killed the woman without intent; or second degree manslaughter which would charge the defendant recklessly caused the death of the woman with no intention of committing homicide, or a verdict of innocent of the charge of murder.

The maximum punishment for murder is life in prison. The maximum penalty for manslaughter first degree is 25 years in prison and for second degree manslaughter 15 years of confinement in a state prison.

Testimony reviewed by Mino included that that given by Arnold's wife, Sandra, who had told of an affair between her husband and Mrs. Blaustein, and of the Arnold family and Mrs. Blaustein having dinner at the Arnold home the night before the shooting incident.

Mino also reviewed testimony of a prosecution witness, John Bennett, a Pennsylvania truck driver, who was one of the first persons to find Mrs. Blaustein slumped over in her station wagon near Accord on the morning of June 1. Bennett had testified the woman told him first she had shot herslef and later said she had been shot by her boy friend."

During the trial, the prosecution contended that Arnold had shot the woman twice and then attempted to kill himself.

The defense asserted that a third and possibly a fourth person were involved in the June 1, 1970 shooting incident that occurred less than four hours after Arnold and Mrs. Blaustein had left the Arnold home in the woman's station wagon.

The jury left the courthouse in custody of court officers at 12:15 p.m. yesterday for lunch at a nearby restaurant, and returned to their deliberation room at 2 p.m. At 5:45 p.m. the jurors left for dinner and resumed deliberations at 7:30 p.m.

Fifteen minutes later the jury returned to the courtroom. The jury requested Judge Mino to have the portion of his charge related to arriving at a verdict re-read. The judge then told of the four verdicts the jury could decide upon—not guilty, guilty of murder as charged or manslaughter first or second degree.

Mino emphasized that the verdict must be unanimous and based upon the decision of each individual juror beyond a reasonable doubt.

Deliberations continued until 9:15 p.m. when the jury was escorted by court officers to a local motel to be locked up for the night.

That Spring Storm Had Us for Awhile

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON

It took a sloppy April snowstorm to break records, close some area schools and cause extensive power outages in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

The most serious aspect of the storm was the power break for an estimated 6,000 Central Hudson customers in Ulster County. Downed trees and tree limbs and snow-ladened power lines were blamed for the widespread blackouts which started at about 1 a.m. Services were restored to most customers by early morning but repair crews continued to work in some trouble spots through the day.

Hardest hit was the Accord, Rosendale, Stone Ridge and High Falls area where power was out from an hour and a half to two hours. Another major outage was reported in Lake Katrine, Ruby, Sawkill and Route 9W north. Scattered problems also occurred in Esopus, Port Ewen, Rifton and Malden-Saugerties.

In Kingston, many sections of the city were without power due to downed limbs and trees. Some city areas were still without electricity this morning. Board of Public Works crews who were spared the necessity of plowing and snow removal were hard at work today cleaning up trees and limbs dropped by the heavy snows.

Coming on the heels of the first promise of spring, the overnight storm dumped more than three inches of snow in Kingston which put the winter's snow accumulation over the record 86½ inches recorded for the 1966-67 season. According to the city engineer's office total snowfall for 1970-71 through the end of March was 83½ inches and with today's slushy mess the total jumps ahead of the record.

A number of schools in southern Ulster and in Dutchess County were closed with some schools going for a later opening due to hazardous road conditions. However, most highways in Ulster County and streets in the city were just wet with some accumulations of slush.

The New York State Thruway reported snow and slush accumulations and some icy spots from New York to Amsterdam this morning. However, warming temperatures and a switch to rain as the storm moves out of the metropolitan-Mid-Hudson area are expected to improve road conditions on the superhighway and elsewhere.

The storm followed a relatively narrow band of the east coast as it came out of the south. A foot of snow covered sections of West Virginia. Snow, sleet, hail and heavy rains buffeted the New York metropolitan area. The April fooler of a storm caused cancellation of racing at Roosevelt Raceway, the first such cancellation since Hurricane Donna in 1960, and the Mets game was called in the fifth inning because of the weather.

Spring is expected to return to its normal progression by Friday according to the weatherman. Clear skies and warming temperatures will erase traces of the April snow which farmers have long considered "poor man's fertilizer."

Those tulip tops which just showed through the wet snow today will be back in tune by Easter Sunday.

UDC Housing Start For Broadway East

KINGSTON

Broadway East took a major step back on the road to prosperity today, with groundbreaking ceremonies on a $3.8 million housing complex just above the new city hall site.

After 10 months of planning the Urban Development Corporation began construction on what will become, in about 18 months, a 135-unit housing development for low and moderate income families and for the elderly.

While the project will put $20,000 a year in the city coffers in the way of new taxes, the most important thing, in the words of Mayor Francis R. Koenig, is that it will bring people back to Broadway East. And with people will come the supporting facilities, shopping centers, restaurants, drug stores, laundromats.

Rents will range from $82 per month for the utility apartments to $180 per month for the three bedroom apartments. Each apartment will contain a refrigerator and stove. Air conditioning will not be provided. However, the apartments are designed so that air conditioning can be added on an individual basis.

There will be five buildings. The largest, containing 70 apartments, will be located at the top of the hill just below St. Mary's Church on the 11.3 acre site. Four other buildings designed as town houses, will form a horseshoe emanating from the large building. Three of the four smaller buildings will contain 15 apartments. The fourth will have 20.

The will be 78 two-bedroom apartments in all; 25 one-bedroom units, 24 three-bedroom units and eight studio units. Fifteen units will be reserved for the elderly and will be equipped with "grab bars" for the safety of the senior citizens.

Play areas will be provided as part of the extensive landscaping for the project. In addition, Herbert Morris Jr., executive director for UDC in the Mid-Hudson Region, told The Freeman that plans are being discussed with the State University College at New Paltz to provide art work for the project.

Parking for 170 cars will be provided along with facilities in the buildings for meeting rooms and other community activities.

The Urban Development Corporation is providing 95 per cent of the development money through its bonding authority at an interest rate of 7½ per cent for 40 years. The interest, however, is subsidized through a federal program down to one per cent, allowing the developer to charge lower rents. The developer, Perlstein Builders Inc. of South Fallsburgh, moved his equipment on the site on Monday. Perlstein put up the other five per cent needed for the project.

Wells/Koetter, architects from Ithaca, did the design work for the brick veneer buildings and will supervise construction along with officlas from UDC.

A renting office will be set up in the early part of next year to take applications for the apartments. Renting regulations will be under the supervision of a local Community Advisory Committee which includes Alexander Yosman, director of the Kingston Housing Authority; Len Cane, executive vice-president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce; Martin Oberkirch, business representative of the Plumbers and Steamfitters Union; James E. Norton, president of the Rondout Savings Bank and the Rev. John Gilmore, director of the Kingston Human Relations Commission.

Pattern for Progress played a key role in the project in bringing the city and UDC together to form the partnership that led to today's groundbreaking.

Nixon to Give Indication As to End of the War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new and likely quicker pace of troop withdrawals from Vietnam will be announced by President Nixon tonight in a speech he has said "will give some indication as to the end" of America's longest war.

The President secluded himself with staff members, as he did Tuesday, to prepare the 9 p.m. EST television-radio address. There were few indications as to precisely what it would unfold.

But speculation from respected quarters centered on a pullout rate which would exceed the current schedule of 12,500 monthly, perhaps by as much as 50 per cent.

A year ago, the President decided barely three hours before a similar speech to withdraw some 150,000 troops by May 1 of this year, leaving the number of Americans still there on that date at 284,000.

Saigon speculates in advance of President Nixon's report to the nation on U. S. troop strength in Indochina . . . Story Page 40.

The White House says that schedule has been followed. But George D. Aiken of Vermont, senior Republican in the Senate, said Tuesday the rate increased in the past two weeks to 18,000 per month, suggesting that might represent the new formula. Administration sources have cautioned against drawing that conclusion.

In Saigon the strongest speculation was that the American troop strength would be cut to between 100,000 and 150,000 over the next eight months.

It was noted by official sources today that two major tactical headquarters will be phased out in the near future—the U.S. 2nd Field Force controlling American combat troops in the Saigon area and the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force in the Da Nang area.

Though Nixon has insisted repeatedly he would not yield to spurts in public or political clamor in his conduct of the war, several events in recent days have added to pressures that his announcement be a dramatic one.

These include adverse reaction to the South Vietnamese invasion of Laos, the court martial conviction and sentencing to life imprisonment of Lt. William J. Calley, a drop in presidential popularity as reported in various polls, and a number of congressional moves aimed at full withdrawal.

Nixon himself remarked in a March 22 television interview that "the next announcement," the one tonight, "I am sure will give some indication as to the end of the tunnel."

But that was not taken literally as a promise to advance a time certain for fulfilling his longstanding pledge to end the war for all American servicemen.

The President has said that some U.S. troops would remain in Vietnam as long as the enemy refused to release prisoners of war, and administration sources have estimated that 25,000 to 50,000 men would be necessary for the residual force.

Tightens Money Belt on Other Matters

Council Approves Rondout Funds

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

The Common Council, despite a frugal mood, gave unanimous approval for a request from the mayor for $293,000 for the Rondout Neighborhood Center at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig, in asking for the full amount for the neighborhood center is attempting to bypass federal "red tape" and save construction time in an effort to get the building up by November of this year.

Bids were opened on March 29 on the project and totaled $293,000. The city already has $193,512 in federal money for the project but city officials estimate that the money might not be forthcoming from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for several months. Koenig's move would get construction started immediately figuring the federal share which will be coming in later this year can be used to pay off part of the bond issue. The resolution approved by the alderman calls for $8,000 in capital notes and a $285,000 bond issue. The capital notes can be floated almost immediately, allowing construction to start as soon as possible. The 20-year bond issue could take several weeks.

While the aldermen passed Koenig's $293,000 request without comment, they had plenty to say on some other requests, for trips, refusing three of five. Trip requests are usually unanimously approved.

In fact, Mayor Koenig himself was almost a victim of the Council's austerity mood. One of the trips was a request from Koenig for himself and City Clerk Louis F. DeCicco to a Conference of Mayors meeting at the Americana Hotel in New York City, June 6-10. It was approved, just barely, by a 7-6 vote.

The aldermen, after reading about revenue gaps of up to $200,000 in this year's city budget due to lack of state funds, harkened to Koenig's call to "tighten our belts" and refused two other trips.

A request from Charles J. Cole, superintendent of Public Works to attend a conference in Johnstown next month was denied along with a request from Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the city lab to take a trip to Hartford, Conn., and for Dr. Richard Gershon to take a trip to Albany, both later this month.

John Houghtaling, the deputy city treasurer, was given permission to attend a workshop for mayors and municipal officers in Syracuse April 15. Houghtaling is one of the city's key fiscal officers and it was considered important that he go to the conference to get the latest word on state fiscal affairs.

But Ernest L. Smith, the city's sealer of Weights and Measures won't be going to the annual conference of the Southeastern Weights and Measures Association at Bear Mountain, May 19-20. His trip request was defeated 7-6.

In other action, Mayor Koenig reappointed Thomas Heneberry of 38 Playmouth Avenue to another four-year term as a police commissioner. The term will expire on April 30, 1975.

Permission was given for the mayor, the city engineer and the board of public works to draw up specifications and advertise for bids for a sewage lift station for the proposed Dutch Village apartment complex off Flatbush Avenue in the Sixth Ward.

The resolution, passed unanimously, specifies that the Council will have to approve the money for project, reportedly in the $20,000 range.

The aldermen, in other action, went on record supporting bills in the state legislature that would increase the retirement benefits for Korean and Vietnam conflict veterans; a bill limiting liability on blood transfusions; approved a labor contract between the Water Department and its workers; allowed the city clerk to delegate authority in regards to the collecting of junk cars.

The aldermen also agreed, 12-1, to lease a 95 by 10-foot piece of property located at 69 Foxhall Avenue to Chester Williams of 13 Prince Street for the sum of $10 a year to provide parking for Williams' tenants.

Alderman Michael S. Perry (D-Seventh Ward) argued that the land (the leased property being only a portion of it) had been set aside as a basketball court by the city recreation department. Perry protested that city workers would not be able to pave the rear portion of the lot (for a basketball court) if the property were leased to Williams. It was explained by Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein that the city had both access to the land and a 60-day cancellation clause on the lease.

Also received was a resolution from Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward) that may solve a vexing city problem: what to do with the statues on the lawn of city hall when the new city hall downtown is opened later this year.

Quick suggested creating a memorial park on the green at city hall, leaving the statues as a permanent tribute to the city's war dead. The suggestion was referred to committee.

Members of the Order of DeMolay sat in at last night's session with their respective aldermen and were treated to one of the longest meetings in the past year, featuring an hour and a half caucus.

Dr. Brock Gets Temporary Post

County Jail Physician Named

KINGSTON

Kingston physician Dr. Sigmund Brock of Stony Run, has agreed to accept the position of Ulster County Jail physician on a temporary basis, according to announcement made today by Sheriff William B. Martin.

The doctor, who received his medical degree at the University of Wilno in Poland, practiced in Germauy before coming to the United States in 1951. He entered private practice in New York City and came to Kingston in 1969 where he is on the staff in the emergency room at Benedictine Hospital.

He is a member of the New York State Medical Society and the American Academy of General Practice.

Sheriff Martin expressed pleasure with Dr. Brock's acceptance of the post.

The jail has been without a physician since July, 1970 when Dr. Sidney Pauker resigned his position after many years of service.

In the interim, prisoners at the jail needing medical care, have been taken to either of the two hospitals in the city of Kingston.

Also, in January of this year, Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, named Mrs. Bonnie Brown as jail nurse. As such, she has been conducting basic examinations in order to determine illness, and at her discretion treating them herself. Or, calling one of several doctors willing to care for inmates.

Sheriff Martin pointed out that many thousands of dollars have been spent for the transportation and treatment of ill patients who had to be taken to the emergency rooms due to lack of a jail physician. Security has been a problem too, he concluded.

Red Hook Phone Acquired, No Employe Changes Seen

RHINEBECK

Continental Telephone System disclosed today that it has acquired all the outstanding capital stock in the Red Hook Telephone Company of Red Hook.

The stock had been held by Helen T. Troy and the Estate of Frances Dee Troy.

Continental is the third largest independent telephone corporation in the United States.

When contacted by The Freeman, Manager and Vice-President Kenneth E. Gray also said that he would soon retire from the company. "I have been planning it now for about 1½ years," he said.

Gray also noted that Red Hook Telephone Company's approximate 63 employes "will continue in almost every case."

Red Hook Telephone, with its 9,354 telephones in five exchanges in Dutchess and Columbia Counties, will join the Northeast Division of Continental Telephone. The Red Hook Telephone service area covers some 200 square miles.

In making the announcement, Continental Telephone's Northeast Division Vice-President and General Manager R. H. Phelps said that "through the management and specialized personnel which Continental has on its staff, management and engineering services will be made available to Red Hook as they are to our other affiliated companies. As a result, we expect to be in the position to reassess the telephone needs of the area, and to make any needed improvements as soon as feasible."

Continental Telephone System, now in its 11th year, has subsidiaries now serving about 1,650,000 telephones in 42 states, Canada, and the Caribbean.

Red Hook Telephone will be the first telephone company acquired by Continental in the eastern portion of New York State. It covers the Dutchess County Towns of Hyde Park, Rhinebeck, Red Hook, Clinton, Milan, and Tivoli, and the Columbia County towns of Clermont and Livingston.

Dr. Abernathy, 40 Followers Held, Released

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy and about 40 of is followers have been arrested and subsequently released on their own recognizance following an hour-long demonstration at the A&P grocery chain's national headquarters.

Abernathy, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and the other demonstrators, protesting the chain's alleged racial discrimination, had refused to leave the building until a meeting with A&P President William Kane had been arranged.

When an A&P spokesman informed them that Kane was "out of town," Abernathy said they would wait "until he gets back." About 25 police then quickly moved in.

Lifted into a police van, Abernathy raised his arms and shouted "soul power." The others in the van repeated the shout, and the doors closed.

In a rally here last Saturday, Abernathy announced a national boycott against the A&P to urge the chain to use some of its profits to help slum-area residents.

The SCLC's economic arm, Operation Breadbasket, has held a number of demonstrations during te last year, demanding that A&P invest money in local business or banks and hire more blacks on the managerial level.

On Tuesday, an A&P spokesman said, "It is difficult to understand today's demonstration" because local SCLC officials "have known for more than four months" that they were "welcome" to speak with A&P officials in charge of Bronx and Long Island stores.

Third Arrest Made

HIGHLAND

A third arrest has been made by State Police in connection with the investigation of a reported daylight burglary at an unoccupied residence on Pancake Hollow Road in this Town of Lloyd community.

Steven Schatzel, 20, of Chodikee Lake Road, was taken into custody Tuesday afternoon by BCI Investigator Thomas Searles and Troopers B. S. O'Connor and Bernard Schwerdsfeger and charged with third degree burglary.

Police said Schatzel and Richard Frank Alfonso, 23, and Thomas William McCain, 24, both of this community, are accused of burglarizing the residence owned by Myron Vandemark on Monday afternoon.

Schatzel was arraigned before Lloyd Town Justice Lewis DiStasi. He was committed to the Ulster County jail in lieu of $1,500 pending a hearing Saturday. Alfonso and McCain also are scheduled to appear in court on April 10.

According to troopers, Alfonso and McCain were arrested Monday as they were walking along Pancake Hollow Road. Police said investigators saw the pair throw some articles behind a tree, and subsequently troopers reported they found two rifles and some costume jewelry reportedly taken from the Vandemark house.

Continued investigation led to the arrest of Schatzel, who was described by an investigator as "the wheel man" who allegedly drove the other two men to the Vandemark house and later was expected to pick them up in his car.

Welfare Bills to the Assembly

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Part of Governor Rockefeller's package of bills to lower welfare costs was pushed through the Senate Tuesday night and sent to the Assembly.

The measures, which range from requiring leaf-raking type work by "employable" aid recipients to toughening the governor's hand over welfare administration, were presented as bills at 6:13 p.m. and approved by 10 p.m., with only token opposition from Democrats.

The Senate then adjourned for a two-week Easter recess to work out more controversial parts of the plan, such as the one-year residency requirement and letting the state social services commissioner fire local welfare workers.

The Assembly was expected to take up the welfare package today.

In the smaller house, the greatest minority opposition was when 11 of the 25 Democrats opposed the bill requiring local social service districts to put able-bodied recipients on "public works" projects if other jobs are unavailable.

Sen. Seymour Thaler, D-Queens, claimed the provision violates the federal prohibition against requiring work, for recipients of aid to dependent children, except for training programs.

"This is purely, a publicity gimmick for the governor and the Republican party," Thaler said.

"We may ask the federal government to let us carry on experimental programs in this field," answered Senate GOP Leader Earl W. Brydges.

Following up Rockefeller's meeting in Washington Monday with House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills, Brydges said, the influential congressman is considering similar federal proposals.

'We want to make sure we have the implementing legislation if needed," Brydges added.

Other opponents claimed only a small percentage of aid recipients are able to work, and that the State Employment Service has only been able to place 11 per cent of the 500,000 persons now seeking jobs.

Only six Democrats, including John LaFalce, D-Buffalo, opposed the bill to transfer the rule-making powers of the independent Board of Social Welfare to the social services commissioner.

A related bill, now awaiting Rockefeller's signature, would remove the board's power to appoint the commissioner, and would give the governor that authority.

"What we are doing is to emasculate the commissioner of social services" said Sen. Albert Lewis, D-Brooklyn. "The commissioner will be a tool at the whim and discretion of the governor."

The other proposals given senate approval would:

— Require local agencies to define persons as employable or unemployable, and provide public work-type projects for employable persons receiving aid.

—Prevent the state from mandating certain numbers of local caseworkers.

— Transfer the rule-making powers of the Board of Social Welfare to the commissioner of social services, and make the commissioner directly responsible to the governor.

— Allow local directors to waive Civil Service rules and make provisional appointments where there is a shortage of qualified applicants.

— Require pictured identification cards of welfare recipients, to prevent other persons from stealing and cashing aid checks.

— Require Social Security numbers of parents on all birth certificates, so that parents may be traced if they abandon the family.

INAUGURATED — Mrs. Maurice T. Moore, chairman of the Board of Trustees, adjusts the medal of office she just placed around the neck of Dr. Ernest Leroy Boyer, who was inaugurated Tuesday as Chancellor of the State University of New York. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Would Cut Degree Years

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State University Chancellor Ernest L. Boyer plans to permit thousands of SUNY students to obtain baccalaureate degrees in three years, rather than the traditional four years, to reflect changing educational patterns.

"There are, I believe, good and sufficient reasons to rethink the length of time required to complete the baccalaureate degree," Boyer told about 500 persons who attended his inauguration as chancellor Tuesday.

Boyer was designated to the post last September. Traditionally, formal installation is an occasion at which the new head of an academic institution articulates his goals for the future.

The 42-year-old chancellor is the chief administrative officer of a 70-campus system that now enrolls more than 300,000 students.

The audience at the two-hour inauguration program, held at the Albany State campus, included Gov. Rockefeller, leaders of the state legislature and such education leaders as State Education Commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist.

Boyer told them that the SUNY system must recognize that "earlier maturation, vastly upgraded high school programs and dramatic breakthroughs in communication have combined to alter radically both the context of our work and the entering college student."

As a result, Boyer added, he proposes that one of the colleges of arts and sciences be established as a three-year institution "to adopt our schedule somewhat to the changing student."

Moreover, he said, he also plans an "experimental and voluntary" three-year B. A. program "for perhaps 10 per cent or more of the freshmen students entering throughout the entire university system."

In other areas, the chancellor dealt with the frequent criticism of higher education in general that it reserves special distinction for faculty members who excel in research and fails to reward good teachers.

"Just as we now—quite properly—give recognition to those who have achieved outstanding distinction in research, honoring them as Distinguished Professors, so too must we honor those who intellectually nourish their students," Boyer said.

"As a step toward that goal, I propose that we create within the university still another rank —that of 'university teacher'."

He also proposed creating closer ties between public and private colleges and universities through regional "cooperative councils on higher education."

Boyer is the seventh presiding officer of the SUNY system in its 23-year history. He succeeded Samuel B. Gould, who was chancellor from 1964 until last August.

The Bishops Keep Trying

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Armed with statistics on the incidence of live births resulting from abortion, the state's Roman Catholic bishops have renewed their attack on New York's liberalized abortion law.

The bishops' new demands for repeal of the law came despite Gov. Rockefeller's recommendations to the legislature to shorten the period for legal abortions from 24 to 20 weeks.

Under the nine-month-old law, the bishops said, 26 babies were born alive during the abortion process, and one survived and was put up for adoption.

They said their statistics came from the office of the New York City health commissioner.

A spokesman for that department, however, adjusted that figure to 37 live fetus births. The spokesman concurred that one survived and was up for adoption.

Present estimates, the bishops said in pleas to legislators, indicate "the lives of 300,000 developing infants will be destroyed during the first year under the outrageous law" that took effect last July 1.

Dr. Jean Patker, director of maternity and newborn services in the New York City Health Department, commented on the bishops' live-birth figures.

She said most of the fetuses lived only a few minutes, and all were placed under intensive care.

There were no instances in which a fetus showing signs of life had been disposed of, she said in response to statements from the bishops that crying babies were "dropped into surgical trash cans."

House Caught In Squeeze on School Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was caught today in a squeeze between the threat of a presidential veto and pressure from a powerful education lobby as it prepared to vote on funds for the U. S. Office of Education.

The educators wanted to add $728 million to a $4.7 billion appropriations committee bill allready $101 million over President Nixon's education budget.

"The House will be looking down the barrel of a veto if it adopts this amendment," said Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill., a senior member of the Appropriations Committee, during debate on the bill Tuesday.

Rep. William D. Hathaway, D-Maine, who offered the amendment, called it "an extremely modest increase" which would still leave most education programs far below the funding levels authorized by Congress.

The amendment was put together by a variety of education organizations calling themselves the Emergency Committee for Full Funding of Education.

The group has brought scores of teachers and other education personnel to Washington this week to try to round up votes for the Hathaway amendment.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., who is managing the bill for the Appropriations Committee, urged the House not to let federal aid to education become a political football.

Republicans Have Done It

Editor, The Freeman

The Republican controlled Legislature last week passed a record budget that contains a tax increase package of $475 million. And as they have done so often in the past, the Republican lawmakers have placed the heaviest burden of that tax increase on the lower and middle income groups.

The insidious State sales tax will be increased from 3 per cent to 4 per cent, which will mean an increase in the sales tax in Ulster County from 4 to 5 cents on the dollar and in the City of Kingston from 6 to 7 cents on the dollar. The remainder of the tax package calls for a $168 million increase in business taxes — most of which will be passed on to the consumer.

Therein lies the tragic aspect of these tax increases — the rich and powerful escape the tax collector virtually unscathed, while the middle class working family is hit hardest. As one Democratic Legislator put it, these are "taxes which exempt the powerful and soak the poor."

The proposal to add three additional brackets to the State income tax, raising the maximum rate from 14 percent to 17 percent for those making over $23,000 per year has been abandoned. New York State's income tax remains an unprogressive tax beyond that point, and too many of those with extremely high incomes will continue to evade the payment of their fair share of State income taxes.

But additional unfair taxes is not the only thing that is wrong with this budget. New York enters the fisc' year with its first official deficit budget in 20 years. In addition to that, the Governor has confirmed a report by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt that the State still owes $195 million from last year's budget. Altogether that puts New York some $218 million in the red.

But that is not all. The State revenue sharing formula has been reduced from 21 per cent to 18 per cent, holding out the prospect of increased local taxes. Already the equalization rates, which form the basis for figuring local real property taxes, have begun to drop in Ulster County, thus posing the threat of higher property taxes. And all this at a time when the unemployment rate in New York States ranges from 6 per cent in some areas to as high as 14 per cent in others.

We have a Republican Administration in Washington, a Republican Administration and a Republican dominated Legislature in Albany and a Republican controlled Legislature in Ulster County. Yes, the Republicans have done a lot. Heaven help us if they do more.

Premeditated Murder

Editor, The Freeman:

There is something haunting and evil about New York State's abortion law that constantly troubles the mind. And that thing is murder. We are all saddened by the tragic loss of life on our highways—in war—because of crime, etc., but I wonder how many folks are heartsick over the thousands of unborn babies that are murdered? How can we try an Army Officer in Court for a probable slaughter of defenseless human beings and still legalize the mass murder of defenseless, unborn human lives? I am writing this letter because of an article I just read in the April 3rd edition of the Daily News. The article dealt with the added financial burden for the City of New York if New York State stops abortion aid to the city for welfare mothers who seek abortion. The article said that approximately four thousand abortions have been performed on welfare mothers during each ninety day medicaid period since the liberalized abortion law went into effect, and the cost for each period was about $575,000. However, the real stinger that hurts the most is a statement made by City Human Resources Administrator Jule M. Sugarman and his statement is as follows—"If the state withholds aid, and the abortions cannot be performed, a sure result will be that several thousand children will be added to the welfare rolls." Money talks and screams "murder."

There you have it. Because of financial pressures the thinking seems to be that these thousands of children must be destroyed before they are born. If that is not premeditated murder, then I just don't know what murder is. May God have mercy on us.

Respectfully,

Questions for Politicians

Editor, The Freeman:

This letter concerns the Saugerties Town Board, the Ulster County Health Board and politicians in general. I've come to the conclusion that they have the courage of their convictions and while they seem to know all the answers, it's those darn questions that foul them up. The County won't question the Town or Health Board's actions, the State won't question the County and the Federal won't step into State affairs. Mr. Politician, would you please tell me just where that leaves the lowly citizen? When you say you will not dignify the question with a reply, does that mean the one you have is quite unsatisfactory?

Assemblyman Bell told me on WGHQ's Albany Report that "he did not want to go back in time and pin the tail on any donkey." Before your time Mr. Bell? Hardly! These same public officials are still in office but I prefer to call them elephants. Sir, try living in my community for a while, but first I must warn you that my taxes are very high and the benefits are extremely low. Please be very careful when you drive on our roads for they are very hazardous. Our Town Highway Supervisor answers to no one and does as he darn well pleases. You will be very upset to find that your tax dollar helped to purchase a $90,000 stone crusher and the only thing that has been crushed in it is your morale! If you have any children warn them not to play in the water that is lying in the streets and yards for it is polluted.

Mr. Politician, one more question that seems to have no answer! Why did the Comprehensive Sewage Study which strongly recommended the setting up of a sewer district in this area in 1968, mysteriously disappear for a few years? Did you elephants tuck it under your trunk, or did you devilish little donkeys sit on it?

I will agree with you Mr. Bell, that there are no donkeys around that need their tails pinned, but I know a lot of elephants who could benefit by such an act. As a registered Republican, I urge all you donkeys to rise and shine for the elephants have been in control much too long, and without competition, their listless behavior is understandable.

Yours in taxes,
MRS. MARTHA DUNHAM

Biggest Mistake

Editor, The Freeman:

I feel that the Calley conviction was the biggest mistake that the Army could have ever made. This is not a conventional war and the order to search and destroy means just that. If he is guilty so is everyone who is over there or was over there and that includes me.

The Army taught him to kill, they sent him on a search and destory mission and that is what he did. Who knows what happened except those who were right there with him. Why was this incident covered up until now? Who tried to hide it? These people are the guilty ones, try them too. Who is going to get tried for the 200 civilians killed in DucDu on March 25, 1971. The North Vietnamese did that and they are probably getting medals for that. What happens to those who make mistakes and shell or bomb the wrong places and kill civilians?

Kill or be killed that is how it is over there, I KNOW, I was there too.

Calley Sentence Wrong

Editor, The Freeman

Because I support American withdrawal from Viet Nam, I feel the sentencing of Lt. Calley is wrong. The atrocities of the war have been not only severe, but frequent as well. Lt. Calley's trial has led the public to believe that My Lai was just one isolated incident in the Vietnamese war, and as such, is punishable. The implication is also that such an incident won't occur again. Was Calley made a scapegoat to cloud the issue of the many atrocities that have occurred and are being committed right now?

Very truly yours,

May Only Be Scapegoat

Editor, The Freeman:

What is all war but premeditated murder?

The verdict in the Calley case has shocked the nation profoundly. Are we on the verge of realizing that we are all guilty of conspiring to premeditated murder, right up to the President of the United States, and that Calley may only be a scapegoat?

Wage-Price Guidelines

It is not going to be all that easy for President Nixon to install even the beginning of wage-price guidelines. The building trades unions have not exactly rejected the concept of wage and price controls, but they announced they would fight "with all the legal powers at our command" the executive order the President issued to implement them.

The unions claim the controls carry enforcement penalties beyond those first mentioned, specifically that unions violating the established controls would be subject to $5,000 fines and their leaders would go to jail for contempt of court injunctions. Mr. Nixon's order makes no mention of these penalties, but since the order takes its authority from the standby wage and price controls in the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, penalties in that act would apply to violations of the order.

Even more, if Mr. Nixon had in mind extending the wage and price controls to other industries to keep them within the guidelines he has set, he was immediately told that the 1.2 million member steelworkers, the third largest union, rejected the six per cent guidelines. The steelworkers are about to enter into negotiations for a new national contract. I. W. Abel, union president, made it plain his 500,000 basic steelworkers would seek substantially more than a six per cent wage increase, no matter how inflationary.

A 700-member basic steel conference has just set bargaining goals for the contract negotiations to begin in May, hopefully to reach an agreement before the August 1 deadline. Mr. Nixon's intervention in the construction industry raised the question whether his formula of craft boards made up of industry, union and public members would be urged on the steel industry if they exceeded a six per cent increase on the coming negotiations. This will be the test of how far Mr. Nixon will go to spread his wage and price controls in order to halt the cycle of wage and price increases and curb inflation.

Something urgently must be done. Unions should want to cooperate to keep down fantastic prices for food, clothing and other necessities. They can benefit all their fellow citizens and themselves.

It Had to Happen

Riggs National Bank, the largest in metropolitan Washington, D. C., has reduced home mortgage loans to seven per cent and the interest rate it pays regular savings accounts to four per cent. This had to happen.

Across the country, banks and savings and loan associations have been gradually cutting interest rates, from the peak of 8½ per cent they charged, to the current 5¼ per cent, due to competition for business loans. If business loans, why not home loans? This was the reasoning that led Riggs to cut its mortage loan rate. Competition may again cut mortgage loan rates toward the long-time six per cent rate which for the last decade or more stimulated home building across the country.

Installment loans also have dropped to eight per cent at Riggs and auto loans, the costliest of all individual loans, down to 8½ per cent from 10 per cent. Riggs is one of the bell-wethers watched by other banks, especially in the mid-Atlantic area. Its action will have wide repercussions. Lower interest rates on home and individual loans should help to stir consumers to buy, which should start the long-expected consumer buying movement that is needed to help reduce inflation.

David Lawrence Says
Millions of Civilians Might Be Killed in Nuclear War

WASHINGTON — The Calley case could help to arouse the world to the fact that those who instigate wars are really the guilty ones. The Soviet press has just denounced as "disgraceful" the decision of President Nixon to delay the imprisonment of Lt. William L. Calley, Jr. Radio Hanoi quoted from a commentary in the newspaper of the Northern Vietnamese Army which demanded that President Nixon and Gen. Creighton Abrams, commander of the American forces in South Vietnam; should be tried and punished.

But over the United Press same day Calley was sentenced came this dispatch:

"Saigon — Viet Cong guerrillas slaughtered 100 South Vietnamese villagers and wounded 96 in one of the worst attacks on civilians since the Tet offensive of early 1968, military sources disclosed. The village, Hoang Dieu in the northern province of Quang Ham, was almost destroyed."

As for the Soviet Union, just a few weeks ago news dispatches reported that a base for Soviet submarines was being constructed in Cuba. Thse vessels are armed with nuclear missiles and are known to be crusing in Cuban waters and off our coasts. Against whom could their missiles be launched? Against millions of civilians in the United States just a few miles away if Moscow decided, at any moment to make such an attack.

The Soviet Union during the Korean War conceded openly it had sold and continued to sell arms to Red China. These were used by the Red Chinese in aiding and fighting alongside the North Koreans. It was the only intervention of the United Nations with an armed force that saved South Korea.

There is plenty of talk in diplomatic circles about development of armament, but the assumption is that the use of nuclear weapons will still be considered legitimate. Abolition of these lethal weapons by all nations and the prohibition of aggressive wars of any kind have not been accomplished. The true meaning of this is that civilians might be killed by the tens of millions if a nuclear war breaks out.

No international tribunals have been established to deal effectively with this situation. No group of major powers has intervened to examine the North Vietnam aggression into South Vietnam and to impose a punishment for the huge number of casualties inflicted — lots of them civilians. It seems strange that so much concern has been manifested about the killing of some civilians by an American lieutenant under the strain of combat, while the same kind of attacks on civilians have been commonplace when guerrilla tactics are employed by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, as innocent bystanders are deliberately injured or murdered.

The only remedy is to abolish the wars in which such things can happen. Aggression has been supported by Red China and the Soviet Union. This has caused the Southeast Asia Treaty to be signed by the United States and ratified by the Senate.

Although many Americans are not familiar with conditions in Southeast Asia, the free nations there are worried and uneasy. They think that if the United States pulls out of Vietnam — seemingly in a humiliating way — American military aid will not be forthcoming again and the Communists will take over much of the continent of Asia.

There is no insurance today against the murder of millions of civilians by nuclear weapons. The United States used atomic bombs to end the war against Japan in 1945. Tens of thousands of civilians were killed in Hiroshima and later in Nagasaki. This correspondent almost immediately after and bombs were dropped said the United States had erred. Though the war terminated a few weeks later, the discussion has continued. The record of the American assault on noncombatants has stood as an example which , it has been feared ever since, would some day be repeated against civilians in our own country. This writer in an editorial published just after the atomic bombs were dropped on Japan said in part:

"We shall not soon purge ourselves of the feeling of guilt which prevails among us. Military necessity will be our constant cry in answer to criticism, but it will never erase from our minds the simple truth that we, of all civilized nations, though hesitating to use poison gas, did not hesitate to employ the most destructive weapon of all times indiscriminately against men, women and children. What a precedent for the future we have furnished to other nations even less concerned than we with scruples or ideals! Our guilt is also the guilt of all mankind which failed to find a way to prevent war."

Jack Anderson Says
Nixon Gets News Digest; Only Peeks at TV and Papers

WASHINGTON — It has become increasingly evident that President Nixon doesn't read the newspapers nor watch the TV newscasts.

He personally sees eight newspapers. But his valet, Manola Sanchez, has told us the President gives them no more than a quick scan. Usually he pauses only at the sports pages.

And the only time Sanchez has seen Nixon in front of the TV screen, with rare exceptions, is to watch a sports event on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon.

The President gets most of his news from a bright, breezy summary prepared each day by Pat Buchanan, a 32-year-old former St. Louis newspaperman.

With the assistance of a couple aides, the brash newspaper stories, broadcast items and editorial comments into a summary that runs 25 to 30 pages. It is delivered to the President in a blue folder with the title, "The President's Daily News Briefing," embossed in gold.

We have been given a peek at a typical summary. The most complex stories are reduced to single paragraphs, giving the President a dappled view of what appears in the media.

Not only is the news compressed but many names are reduced to initials. Some items are so abbreviated that they require a translator.

"NRA turns down EMK bid to address its convention," states a typical item. "Storin of Globe impressed with EMK's staying power, his Gridiro appearance is treated well."

Translated, this means that the National Rifle Association refused to let Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., address its convention; that Matthew Storin, White House correspondent fro the Boston Globe, thinks Kennedy is holding his own politically; and that Kennedy's performance at the annual Gridiron dinner, where famous Washington figures spoof one another, receive favorable reviews.

Another item: "McCloskey vows to run against RN if no one else will and says he's determined to get US out of VN — meanwhile CRA strongly censured him and urged him to switch parties."

Paul McCloskey is the California Congressman who defeated actress Shirley Temple in the GOP primary. RN, of course, is Richard Nixon, and CRA stands for California Republican Assembly.

Here are a few other random items, in full, from the President's news summary:

"Media criticism by VP Agnew and Dole (Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kans.) is being well covered with Veep apparently causing CBS to at least temporarily hold its fire." (Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kans., is the new GOP National Chairman.)

"Sen. Montoya with rather sensational charges of bugs placed by Admin. on Dem. Senators and other opponents."

"Muskie seen as frontrunner in UPI survey of Dem state leaders but far from home free."

"Biossat (Washington correspondent Bruce Biossat) says WH is ignoring — at its own peril — major GOP trouble in key states."

"Mollenhoff (ex-White House aide Clark Mollenhoff) tells of WH feeling that LBJ may endorse RN in '72."

The news capsules themselves are objective enough. States a typical critical item: "Four Senators joined in describing as dangerous, befuddled, unfair and folly the Mideast settlement suggestions of Rogers."

The selection of items for the presidential summary, clearly, is based on what will interest the President. There are frequent references therefore, to RN.

Footnote: The fact that President Nixon's news reading is limited doesn't mean he is uninformed. He gets most of his information from detailed government reports, which he spends hours poring over each day.

Resignation Rumors

Washington is buzzing with rumors that Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton, like his predecessor Walter Hickel, has threatened to resign because of his inability to get through to President Nixon.

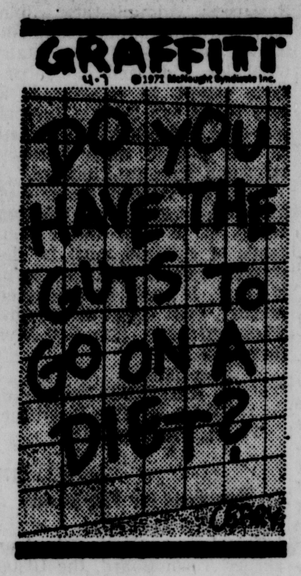

Insiders have told us that Morton requested a meeting with the President but wound up at the White House seeing management czar George Shultz instead. Shultz reportedly presented Morton with a list of people whom the White House wanted Morton to put on the payroll.

The indignant Morton, so the story goes, submitted his resignation, which he withdrew only after a personal appeal from the President.

Morton, in a telephone talk with us, flatly denied the story. He acknowledged only that White House aide Fred Malek had provided him with a list of the party faithful for possible employment.

The decision on whom to hire, Morton said, was left up to him. He said the President has seen him every time he has requested a meeting. As for Shultz, Morton said they were cordial friends and occasionally play tennis together.

Footnote: Hickel's friends, meanwhile, say he is privately hurt because President Nixon didn't invite him to Morton's swearing-in. A host of Washington's officialdom was invited, including Stu Udall, who headed the Interior Department under the Democrats. But Hickel was pointedly excluded. A White House spokesman told us an invitation to Hickel wasn't "appropriate" under the circumstances. Udahl had been invited because he and Morton were old friends, explained the spokesman.

Why Israel Insists on Sinai Peninsula as Defense Buffer

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) Egypt's Sinai Peninsula, the whitish desert running east of Suez to the Israeli border, is one of the world's great empty spaces. More than most people realize, its continued emptiness is one of Israel's prime goals in Middle East negotiations.

The Israelis have occupied the Sinai, of course, since the 1967 war when they pushed quickly westward to the Suez Canal.

A wide impression here and elsewhere has been that when, if ever, negotiations get down to hard specifics on territory, Israel's main concerns will center on keeping control of Syria's Golan Heights, the southeastern Sinai strongpoint of Sharm-el-Sheikh, and the historic Jewish portion of Jerusalem, seized in the war.

Before 1967, Arabs on the Golan Heights often shelled Israeli families across the border in a nearby valley. If Egypt holds Sharm-el-Sheikh, it can shut off shipping traffic through the Gulf of Aqaba, to the Israeli port of Elath — as happened in May, 1967.

Obviously, the Israelis do regard these places as important to their security. But the focus on these critical points has tended to obscure their interest in the broad Sinai itself.

If this low, vacant expanse of land has any potentially intrinsic economic worth, other than some low-level offshore oil production, you never hear about it. You can scan atlases and economic geographies and find only the barest mention of the area. We are mostly indebted to the astronauts for giving us a look at it. In orbital flight they often have photographed it, dramatizing its compact, arrow-head shape.

Key Israeli officials will tell you that they now regard it as vital breathing space for their nation. They want to hold onto a broad swath of it as a defense buffer west of their present legal borders. Why?

The answer is that the flat northern reaches of the desert offer almost no natural barrier to a transiting military force. Properly motorized, such a force can sweep across it in a few days, as the Israelis themselves did — westbound — in the six-day war.

It is the present firm Israeli position that they cannot and will not live with what they deem to be this threat to their long-term security.

They said that because an enemy Arab force can flash so swiftly through the Sinai, the Israelis must mobilize for nothing less than survival any time a major hostile military concentration appears in the desert.

The Israelis consider this an impossible kind of existence. In total mobilization they can draw together a 300,000-man army (matching the Egyptians). But they must build this force from a tiny population of just three million.

It is argued, therefore, that they cannot stay mobilized for more than three weeks at a time without wrecking an Israeli economy which would be severely stripped of its manpower.

Repeated, intermittent alerts leading to mobilization are seen as posing a prospect of disruption as bad as a long drawn-out war or alert.

So, Israel wants a wide belt in the Sinai west of its border. Such a buffer, perhaps 30 miles east to west, could reduce her need, it is said, for disruptive panic alerts.

It would also keep potential Egyptian air bases and missile sites farther from Israeli population centers than might be the case with a return to the present border. At that line, Egyptian jets would be only seven minutes from key cities.

The Egyptians want all their lands back, Israel's Sinai demands clearly complicate negotiations. is there any bargaining room?

Privately, some Israelis say they might settle for less than "sovereignty" over some protective zones they want. They might accept leasing — or, in the Sinai, a demilitarized zone patrolled by both sides.

WITH FRIENDS LIKE THESE

It was a warm afternoon and we spent it at Gulfstream Park, which is a great place to be if the sun is out and your wallet's in. Louis Wolfson invited us to his box so that we could watch our $2 bets go down the drain with class. The beautiful daughter of Hirsch Jacobs was there, and she was trying to understand my system of handicapping, which is done with an abacus, a compass and a busted pencil.

Wolfson is a tall, muscular character with brown wavy hair and the bearing of a West Pointer. He owns a lot of things in a lot of places, including a stable of race horses called Harbor View Farms. So I said: "Who do you like in the second?" He shrugged and turned on the pearly smile. "I don't know," he said. "But here's $20. Bet it on whatever you bet." I said no, because I haven't picked a winner since William Jennings Bryan was running.

"Bet it anyway," he said. "please." So I bet it on an outsider, the ten horse. He flew across the finish line in front and alone. Wolfson picked up $340. I pocketed $34. I said to my wife, I said: "The rich get richer, and the poor get thei. ice in the winter time." She didn't even nod. Mrs. B. studies all the tip sheets — you know, Hot Horse Riley, Loose Shoe Louis, Phil the Phailure and all the others.

She reads them, adds up the points, learns that the two horse cannot lose even if he breaks three legs, then goes to the window in hysteria, and calls out, "Number seven." Two wins, and she goes back to the system.

After winning the second, Wolfson and I lost a little interest and began to speak of ingratitude. He's a wealthy man who has had his share of dear, dear friends who seldom lost an opportunity to hang him. This has happened to me on a smaller scale, but I tend to roll with the punches, the best way to lose a buddy is to do favors for him.

One of the best was a kid who came out of World War II and wanted to be a magazine editor. He had no experience. I had edited "Collier's" and "Liberty," so I took him on as an assistant. I spent a solid year teaching him everything I learned, relating every mistake I had made — the why, the how of scrambling literary eggs into something called a magazine.

After a year, I helped him get a minor job on a publication. A big one. He worked hard. He worked well. Seven years later, he was near the top. At that time, I quit editing magazines and books and reverted to writing. There was no money coming in the house. So I called my old protege and told him that, as long as he had to buy articles, perhaps he could buy a few from me.

"You're in, boss!" he said. "Glad to hear from you; I'll be in touch." I'm sure he would. But not with me. I went broke. We owed the butcher $300. I never heard from my pet again.

Then there is — let's call him Willy. Willy can write, but he doesn't know it. He has no faith in himself, which is an intelligent assessment. I spent 20 years trying to get Willy to write his first book. But he has an addiction for other people's money and their secretaries. This adds up to a losing parlay.

So I got him a job as a publicity agent. He worked a couple of years, smiling his way from one typewriter to another. Then he showed me a jumble of the most incoherent writing I've ever seen. It was an expose of his boss. I'm a slow thinker. He didn't want to publish the junk; he wanted the boss to buy it from him. The boss did: for $60,000. So I lost two friends in one shot.

Mrs. B. was explaining her system to Miss Jacobs. The blonde was saying "Yes" as though she understood. I was ready to leave Gulfstream a winner. I told Lou Wolfson about Willy. He shook his head sadly.

"Never met him," he said. "But he wrote a note to me a while back. Said he wanted to see me about something important. I turned him off because, in his letter, he said he knew you and that you're a phony."

Dear friends and gentle people.

Cites Necessity Of Laos Drive

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — This reporter had lunch the other day with a South Vietnamese senator, a member of President Thieu's opposition. He had been in prison for two terms at varied times in the past for political differences with the government in power. He was elected to the Senate in a political upset through the support of the military Buddhists. So the senator cannot be accused of mouthing the Thieu administration's official line.

This man was very much concerned. Why is it your American papers seem to take such absolute joy, he said, at reports of our defeats in Laos? It is not that you report defeats. It is that your papers seem to take such pleasure in it. Rather, it would seem, that you should be agonizing with us and feeling sadness with us. Your attitude causes much bitterness among us Vietnamese, whatever each one of us individually may think of the Laos battles. Your attitude separates your people and mine; it does not bring us together.

The senator himself was very pessimistic about the psychological results of Laos. Our papers as well as yours, he said, reported only the defeats. It is the government's fault for not presenting the facts so that people would know what was accomplished. Therefore, the feeling among people is that this campaign itself was a loss — a defeat. This cannot help but have strong repercussions.

The feeling among our people, he said, is one of less confidence in our generals. There is a feeling, too, that the Americans let us down in Laos. Psychologically, the way Laos has been reported will have a strong effect in Vietnam's villages.

The senator seemed to imply, but did not say, that this attitude in turn would affect the elections and the confidence of the people in the government's ability to win the war.

He was not a man to mince words. He believes the Laos campaign was hurriedly planned and poorly executed He believes the intelligence was bad, both on enemy strength and firepower and on enemy intentions. He thinks the enemy was grossly underestimated, that coordination between the Vietnamese units was poor and coordination between the Vietnamese on the ground and Americans in the air was not good.

But with all this, the senator believes that on balance the Laos affair was more of a success than a failure.

It was something that had to be done if the South Vietnamese are to be free. It accomplished part of what it was supposed to do. And that is to the good.

Berkeley Radicals Elect Black Mayor, Fail to Split Police Force

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—A radical measure to split Berkeley's police into three departments—for the black, white and university communities — was rejected by the city's voters Tuesday, but young activists stomped and cheered anyway.

Their candidate for mayor became the first black elected to the city's top office and they captured three of four city council seats on the ballot.

A young, long-haired audience of 1,000 that was jammed into Berkeley Civic Auditorium to follow the official computer tallies, shouted, waved red flags and gave clenched-fist salutes as the final vote was posted four hours after the polls closed.

Victory Margin 56 Votes

Warren Widener, 32, a liberal attorney who refused to endorse the police-splitting proposal but offered his own "community control" plan, was elected mayor over black moderate Wilmot Sweeney, 45, who had bitterly denounced the measure. Widener won by just 56 votes out of 51,965 cast. An ultraconservative ran a distant last.

Sweeney said today he would ask for a recount of the vote.

The police amendment, conceived by Black Panther leader Bobby Seale, would have split the city's force into three autonomous departments for black, white and University of California campus districts.

It was rejected by more than a two-to-one margin—33,712 votes against and 16,142 for—as 80 per cent of the city's registered voters cast ballots.

Radicals Win 3 Offices

In his victory statement early today, Widener said the amendment's defeat "means nothing," since he will "push very hard" for his own police reform plan.

The radicals came close in their attempt to capture Berkeley by ballot. Their slate captured three of the four spots open on the eight-member council.

Since the mayor casts the ninth vote at council meetings, the returns left the radical-liberal faction with four votes and the moderate-conservative group with four. The council will appoint its final member when Widener moves into the mayor's chair—and Sweeney predicted a "pretty difficult" search since the appointee will require five votes.

Ed Kallgren, 42, a white attorney and member of the moderate "One Berkeley Community" slate, led the council balloting. Candidates backed by the radical "April Coalition" ran second through fifth in the voting and captured the other three seats.

The winners were D-Army Bailey, 29, and Ira Simmons, 28, both black attorneys, and Long Hancock, 30, a white housewife. Rick Brown, 29, a former student leader, trailed Simmons by 23 votes.

VICTORY SPEECH — Richard J. Daley as he makes victory speech after being re-elected Mayor of Chicago for a fifth term on Tuesday. He defeated Republican Richard Friedman. At his side is his wife, Eleanor. Daley captured about 70 per cent of the votes cast. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Overwhelming Margin For Daley in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard J. Daley, the nation's most successful big city organization politician, has been elected to a fifth term as Chicago's mayor by a huge margin. He pulled in 70 per cent of the votes and won 48 of the city's 50 wards.

The 68-year-old Democratic power said in a Tuesday night victory speech. "The overwhelming vote was a mandate to us to make Chicago a better city for all the people."

Like a gunfighter in the Old West, Daley takes them all on and comes up a winner.

This time it was Republican Richard E. Friedman, 41, a bachelor who switched political allegiance from the Democratic ranks and ran as tough a campaign as Daley has seen in 16-year reign at City Hall.

After the votes were counted, Friedman expressed pride in the campaign he had waged and said: "We made some waves today, and they're going to be hitting shore."

Friedman had said he would win by 50,000 votes.

The final count after Tuesday's voting—the lightest in a Chicago mayoral election in 36 years—showed Daley won by a margin of 735,787 to 318,059.

In 1967, when he won by a half million votes over John Waner, Daley carried all 50 wards in this city of 3.4 million.

The two wards the mayor failed to carry Tuesday were the 5th, in the Hyde Park neighborhood of the South Side, and the 43rd, a predominantly white area on the Near North Side. Both wards are represented by independent Democrats on the City Council.

Daley's victory about making Chicago a better city for all the people echoed the keynote of his campaign. Friedman had charged that Daley was out of touch with the people.

With Tuesday's victory, Daley became the third man to win five Chicago mayoral elections. But the others—19th century politicians—won only two-year terms and they were not in succession.

Fighting in East Pakistan

American Missionary Spreads the News

CALCUTTA, India (UPI)—An American missionary just arrived from East Pakistan said Tuesday rebels controlled nearly all territory south of Chittagong, but that the Pakistan Army held the vital Chittagong port.

Chittagong is in southern East Pakistan, about 75 miles southeast of Dacca.

Jesse G. O. Eaton, a Baptist hospital administrator from Lockport, N. Y., was one of 119 foreign refugees who arrived in Calcutta Tuesday aboard the freighter Clan McNair, which sailed from Chittagong Sunday morning.

Eaton said Chittagong was a wasteland with nearly all the bamboo and tin buildings destroyed as the result of heavy fighting.

He said Bangla Desh freedom fighters held the Radio Pakistan transmitter five miles south of Chittagong and that everything else south of the Kranafuli River was in rebel hands.

"Rebel flags are all over the place," Eaton told correspondents on the dock.

Eaton is a hospital administrator at the Memorial Christian Hospital, 65 miles south of Dacca.

He and 11 other persons drove to Chittagong March 29 with big American flags flying from their Land Rover and Volkswagen, and passed through a 300 yard "no man's land" near the Radio Pakistan transmitter.

The administrator said he was told the transmitter had been taken by the rebels early in the fighting, but that last Thursday two Pakistani jet fighters strafed the tower and knocked it out of commission.

Chittagong, Eaton said, was a city of "bamboo ashes and smoldering ruins." He said he only saw one body but others aboard the refugee ship said they had heard reports of 70 bodies lying in the streets during the first days of the war.

The missionary said the war around Chittagong appeared a "stalemate" with the Army in the city and the port and the rebels to the south.

Eaton and another Baptist missionary, the Rev. Willard R. Benedict of White Plains, N.Y., said they preferred not to talk too much about the situation. They said another 50 American missionaries had been left behind at the hospital.

Rosendale Has Neighborhood Center

ROSENDALE

Ulster County Community Action Committee this week announced the opening of a new Neighborhood Service Center at 17 Main Street in the Village of Rosendale.

The Rosendale center is the sixth to be opened in Ulster County by UCCAC and will be responsible for the Town of Olive, Hurley, Marbletown and Rosendale. The new center will work extensively with migrant laborers during the summer migrant season.

The center will have a full time staff member, Mrs. Emma Jean Moss, community organizer. Mrs. Moss is currently seeking the services of a neighborhood aide. Applicants may apply at the Main Street office.

Mrs. Moss, a resident of New Paltz comes to UCCAC from the Assistance Committee (SUMAC) where she was employed as a migrant aide for four years.

The Rosendale center will be open five days each week between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Anyone wishing further information on the work of the center or of UCCAC or anyone in need of help, or those interested in volunteering their time at the center are invited to visit the center during the opening hours or phone for assistance.

The goal of any Community Action Agency is to help the people in the community it serves to be able to help themselves. Through various programs aimed at facilitating community organization, the staff members of the Center will endeavor to aid those members of the community who wish to do so to become self sufficient. Programs will be initiated as soon as the staff has had the opportunity to become familiar with the needs and interests of the community. This will be done, in part, through a Neighborhood Advisory Board, which is yet to be established, and through information provided to the staff by people in the area, as is mandated in the Office of Economic Opportunity Community Action Programs throughout the nation.

The staff members have been trained in methods of community organization and will assist members of the community in learning to organize and plan for their communities. In addition, the staff can provide information on existing government programs set up to help those who are in need, such as Medicaid, Food Stamps, Welfare, Social Security, and so on. Some information concerning legal rights and job training will also be available through the Center.

The Ulster County Community Action Committee is a private, nonprofit government agency. It was established in accordance with the guidelines of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO,) which is an Executive Office of the President. OEO was established with the signing of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Olive Passes Local Law on Mobile Units

WEST SHOKAN — A local law regulating mobile homes and mobile parks in the Town of Olive was passed Tuesday night by the Town Board.

The Board also voted to submit to public referendum a proposed law retaining the town's three elected assessors system.

Both actions were taken following public hearings on the matters.

The mobile home law, which will go into effect as soon as it is filed with the State, mandates that the minimum size of a parcel of land on which a trailor is located must be one-half acre. It also states that a mobile home must have dimensions totaling at least 600 square feet.

According to Town Supervisor Frank Carle, there was some opposition expressed to the law, primarily from mobile home owners themselves.

The public referendum for retention of the town's three elected assessors, in lieu of a full time appointed assessor, will be held May 15 at the Town Hall.

Two public hearings had previsously been held on both matters.

In other business, the Town Board honored five inspectors of elections who have served in that capacity for 20 years or more. Feted were Elwin C. Davis, who served from 1916 to 1966; Genevieve McLean, who has served since 1939; Mary Merrihew, who has served since 1940; Vera Sickler, who has served since 1945 and Albert S. Fox, Sr., who served from 1948 to 1968.

Marbletown Businessmen Seek Additional Housing

STONE RIDGE — Undertaking one of its most controversial programs since its formation, the Marbletown Businessman's Association Tuesday night agreed to work towards providing additional housing in the area, primarily for college students.

After lengthy and heated discussion, a majority of the members agreed that additional housing is necessary in order to promote new businesses to the area "to help support our high tax assessment."

Specific details on what actions the association might take were not revealed.

Meanwhile, the businessmen decided not to recommend variance in the zoning ordinance that would permit a local resident to establish an antique shop in an area currently zoned residential. Association members said that they would not make a commitment until the Zoning Board of Appeals had reviewed the case and made its recommendations.

The meeting, the first held since the new slate of officers was elected, attracted its largest turnout in over a year. There are now more than 75 members of the association. The next meeting will be held April 20.

Taken to Benedictine Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance Service and treated for bruises and lacerations were Ardelle Gant of Staten Island, Henry Jefferson of 280 Manhattan Avenue, and Inez Jefferson of 135 West 142nd Street, both of New York City. Details of the mishap were not available.

Dutchess Firm To Appear in Pollution Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Central Valley Concrete Corp. of Wappingers Falls has been directed to appear at a public hearing about alleged pollution of the atmosphere.

Henry L. Diamond, commissioner of environmental conservation, said that the firm's batch concrete plant adjacent to Route 9 may be emitting dirt or gases in excess of the area's air standards.

Diamond said it also has been alleged that the company has failed to provide the required data concerning its emissions "and is therefore subject to leaving the air contamination source sealed."

The hearing was scheduled for 10 a.m. April 22 at the Environmental Conservation Building here.

Saugerties Board Adopts School Budget

SAUGERTIES — The Board of Education of the Saugerties Central School District this week adopted the 1971-72 school year budget of $5,573,343.54. Accordingly, the school tax rate, it is estimated, will be $128.07 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The current budget totaling $5,147,627 reflected a tax rate of $118.78.

Anthony Riozzi, board president, emphasized that the tax rate is an estimate, and that although the expenditure side of the budget will remain as adopted, the income or revenue side is still very much in doubt due to factors over which the school board has no control. The state aid picture is still foggy and will be until the State Legislature and the Governor have acted, he said. The amount of assessed valuation cannot be determined until assessments have been completed. Another figure affecting the tax rate will be the cash balance of the present budget which will not be known until the end of the 1970-71 school year.

A budget committee composed of John O'Rourke, chairman; Charles Fous, and Thomas Macarille, working with Business Manager Gerald Snyder, and Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, has held approximately 25 meetings and has consulted with many members of the school staff. The committee has attempted to meet the educaional needs of the school system at the lowest possible cost. For several years Saugerties has had the lowest per pupil cost in the Mid-Hudson area.

Voters of the district will be treated to a new budget format Tuesday, April 20, at the public hearing to be held in the high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. The document will contain a comparison of the 1971-72, 1970-71 budgets, and 1969-70 actual expenditures.

The statistical tables which are brought up-to- date each year also will be included. New in the budget format will be detailed expenditures of the six schools. Figures for the four elementary schools will be listed side-by-side as will the figures for the junior high school and senior high school. In addition, the secondary schools will show amounts budgeted by departments. Although this new budget form will mean additional printing costs to the district, it is expected that taxpayers who want a completely detailed budget presented will be pleased. Obviously, the new form has reqiured much more time and effort on the part of the central office staff, Dr. Arnold said.

'Baby Lenore' Must Go To Natural Mother

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The Court of Appeals ruled today Mr. and Mrs. Nick De Martino of Brooklyn must return their 10-month-old adopted daughter to her natural mother.

In a unanimous decision, the state's highest court found the natural mother, Olga Scarpetta, had a valid claim to the child.

"We conclude that the record before us supports the finding by the courts below that the surrender was improvident and that the child's best interests--morai and temporal -- will be best served by the return to the natural mother," Judge Matthew J. Jasen wrote in the opinion.

The court held that under current state law a mother may reclaim her child unless it is determined she is morally or financially unfit.

Miss Scarpetta, a financial secretary from Colombia, came to New York to give birth to the child May 18, 1970.

She surrendered the infant, now called Lenore, to the Spence-Chapin Adoption Service May 22. Ten days later, Miss Scarpetta signed a surrender document and on June 18, the baby was placed with De Martino, an attorney, and his wife.

Then, on June 23, Miss Scarpetta repented her actions and asked that the child be returned to her.

The Court of Appeals denied the De Martino's request to intervene in the case, holding that such a policy might violate the secrecy of adoption proceedings.

The case was between Miss Scarpetta and the adoption agency and only became publicized when the De Martinos appealed to news media after losing in lower courts.

The Court of Appeals did not announce a date for the baby to be surrendered.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Robert A. Slater who passed away seven years ago, April 7, 1964.
His life was earnest, his actions kind,
A generous hand and an active mind,
Anxious to please, loath to offend,
A loving brother and faithful friend.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Maria Ferraro, who passed away April 7, 1966.
At night the silent stars look down
On a grave not far from here
Where sleeps the one we can't forget
The one we loved so dear
If we had all the world to give
We'd give it yea and more
To hear her voice and see her smile
And greet her at the door.
The years may wipe out many things
But this they wipe out never
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
HUSBAND and CHILDREN

Memoriam

In loving memory of our Mother, Maria Fabiano, who passed away two years ago, April 7.
You can only have one mother,
Patient, kind and true;
No other friend in all the world,
Will be as true to you.
For all her loving kindness,
She asked nothing in return;
If all the world deserts you,
To your mother you can turn.
All we have now dear mother,
Is memories fond and true,
We are thinking of you today,
Although others may forget;
Silent thoughts bring many a tear,
For the one we loved and lost so dear.
YOUR LOVING CHILDREN,

But memory turns back every leaf.

Proposed Home Loan Form Under Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Future home-buyers may find themselves hamstrung by a proposed federal form for home loan contracts tailor-made to lenders' specifications, say Ralph Nader and Sen. William Proxmire.

The proposed form was drafted, with advice from lenders only, by two government-spawned corporations, the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation. If adopted it likely would become standard for all home mortgages.

Spokesmen for lenders defended the proposals at a public hearing Monday as necessary to protect their interests and assure an adequate supply of home loan money.

Proxmire, D-Wis., said the forms would "severely cripple the legal rights of the American homebuyer.

One provision would permit mortgage holders to start foreclosure proceedings without notice if a homebuyer fell 30 days behind on a payment, Proxmire said.

Consumer advocate Nader, who joined in Proxmire's criticism, said the form would permit mortgage holders to stage inspections of the property at will.

Proxmire also complained the form would allow lenders to require borrowers to pay into unlimited, noninterest bearing accounts for payment of taxes and insurance on the property.

Under another feature the lender could siphon off insurance payments for damage to the property, apply the money to the loan principal and leave the buyer to pay for the damage from his own pocket, Proxmire said.

Lenders would resort to the extreme measures in rare instances, said Lewis E. Eaton, president of the U.S. Savings and Loan League, which represents the institutions making most of the nation's conventional home loans.

But Nader countered by saying, "Excessive power can always be abused, and prior history may not be an accurate guide."

Nader criticized the Federal National Mortgage Association, nicknamed Fannie Mae, for excluding consumers from the initial drafting of the documents and said he fears the forms already are beyond repair.

Fannie Mae and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, both privately owned but government-controlled, previously purchased from initial lenders only those mortgages underwritten by the Veteran's Administration and Federal Housing Administration.

ACLU Steps Into Dispute On Shave, Hair

MONTGOMERY, N.Y. (AP) — A controversy over a shave and a haircut has brought the American Civil Liberties Union to the aid of 39 students here, suspended when they, too, came to the aid of mustachioed and long-haired friend.

Mrs. Nancy Loori, of Middletown, a representative for the ACLU in Orange and Ulster counties, said Tuesday she felt Douglas Quist had been harassed by Valley Central High School because an "illegal demand has been made of him—that he cut his hair."

The dispute began when principal Victor Haggar, suspended Quist Monday because, Haggar said, Quist broke a promise to shave his mustache and cut his hair.

Thirty - nine students took Quist's part and demanded he be allowed to return to classes. When they did not obey an order to leave the office of the dean of students, they were also suspended for from three to five days.

Mrs. Loori said after meeting with Haggar that she will see how many parents of the students support their action and then will consult the ACLU in New York City for possible legal remedies.

Mt. Marion-Ruby Voters Approve Truck Purchase

MT. MARION-RUBY

Authorization for the purchase of two new cabs and chassis for Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Company's two tank trucks at a cost not to exceed $20,000 was approved at Tuesday night's public referendum 62 to 2.

Mt. Marion-Ruby fire commissioners have scheduled a meeting Saturday morning to review the specifications and prepare for advertising for bids.

The funds for the purchase will be withdrawn from the Fire District's reserve fund and will not require the floating of a bond issue or reflect in increased fire district tax levels.

Pentagon CID Control Ordered by Defense Secretary Laird

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has ordered the Army's Criminal Investigation Division brought under tighter Pentagon control in the wake of a congressional probe of corruption in military PXs and servicemen's clubs.

Laird, in an unpublicized memo March 17, directed Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor "to develop a CID agency which has vertical control of all CIDs worldwide" and to be similar in structure to the Air Force's Office of Special Investigations.

"One top cop or chief detective would be in charge of CID investigations worldwide and assure that people here would be aware of what's going on in the field," an Army spokesman said.

CID detachments now take orders from local commanders. Air Force criminal investigators are directed by OSI headquarters in Washington.

The Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee's hearings into alleged kickbacks and bribes in operation of the PXs and servicemen's clubs system brought charges the CID was unable to coordinate investigations between major commands. Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., heads the panel.

Some senators said evidence suggested a series of high-level coverups in local commands to protect senior officers and high-ranking enlisted men. Because of the CID's structure, the senators said, local commanders were able to quash investigation or suppress findings.

Reacting to another area of Senate criticism, Laird ordered the Air Force to develop a worldwide debarment procedure to prohibit individuals and firms accused of illegal activities from doing further business with any military branch.

Senate testimony indicated some businessmen, although supposedly barred, were able by changing their names and corporate structure to remain active in selling supplies, such as slot machines, to the military.

In one case, William J. Crum, a U.S. businessman living in Hong Kong, was able to operate for more than five years a lucrative business with the U. S. military in Vietnam although he had been barred in Korea several years earlier.

Child Drowning Victim in Dutchess County

STAATSBURG

A 3-year-old girl who reportedly wandered from her home on Center Road, Town of Clinton on Tuesday, was found by a neighbor drowned in the Little Wappinger Creek not far from her home.

Rhinebeck State Police were notified early yesterday afternoon by George Sullivan that his daughter, Sandra Lee, was missing from her home. Several BCI officers and uniformed troopers with neighbors of the Sullivan family started a search of the area.

At 1:45 p.m. a neighbor, Robert Shea discovered the child floating face down in the creek about one mile north of Hollow Road, in the Town of Clinton. The girl was taken from the water and artificial respiration was administered.

She was rushed to St. Francis's Hospital in Poughkeepsie where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

The girl's mother told investigators that she had put her daughter to bed at 11:30 a.m. for a nap, and she went downstairs to do washing and other chores. Later she discovered the child missing from her bed.

Police reported the girl apparently got out of bed and walked through a rear door to the nearby creek, and probably accidentally fell into the swift flowing water.

Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. William G. Thompson of Rhinebeck investigated with police. He gave a finding of accidental death due to drowning pending a formal inquest to be held later.

Legalizing Hot Pants

NEW YORK (UPI)—The sage who said: "Beauty is in the eye of the beholder," got some backing Tuesday from two city councilmen.

Councilmen Matthew J. Troy Jr. and Monroe Cohen introduced a bill to legalize hot pants and the miniskirt.

They told a news conference afterward: "We are constantly on the alert to restore the fun to fun city, and we are aware of the esthetic beauty that a miniskirt or hot pants can instantly create in the eyes of the proper beholder."

The current administrative code, which says a woman must be covered to the knees, is outdated, the councilmen said.

Glasco Road Is Discussed

GLASCO

There was a general concensus at a recent Glasco PTA meeting that Plenty Street, the only access road to Glasco School is inadequate to meet the needs of the school.

Many of the more than 75 in attendance expressed their views.

The president of Glasco Fire Department, Joseph Fabiano, said that during the snow months between the hours of 8-9 a.m. and 2:30-3:30 p.m. it would be a problem to get fire equipment to the school if it was needed.

Town Supervisor A. Michael Schovel felt that Plenty Street was inadequate and that a question arises as to whether it is the responsibility of the town or the School Board to remedy the situation by possibly building a new road. Schovel plans to meet with the School Board to discuss a possible solution.

Anthony Riozzi, president of Saugerties Central School Board, felt that the safety problem exists for walkers as well as for those who ride the bus and the idea of a new road or an improved Plenty Street needs to be studied. He felt that a road through Seyler's Terrace would probably be too costly.

Charles Bach, town superintendent of highways, was scheduled to be present but did not attend the meeting.

Some possible solutions for a new road were suggested by those present as well as emergency measures to make Plenty Street more accessible. The Glasco PTA hopes that those with the authority will take steps to improve the condition now that it has been brought to their attention.

The bake sale held by the Glasco PTA on March 27 was reported a success adding $230 to the PTA treasury. The PTA thanked all those involved including the 22 students of the Glasco School who contributed baked goods as well as many members of the PTA. Extra helpers at the store were Mrs. David Snoddy, Mrs. James Whelan and Mrs. John Carpino. The few remaining unsold baked goods were donated to the Pine Grove School.

Projects for the future PTA activities were announced starting with a new book fair. The fair is to be held at the gymnasium of the Glasco School on April 23, 24 and 26.

During the end of April and all of May the ways and means committee will be selling sweatshirts with the emblem name of the Glasco School.

The drive for General Mills coupons to help toward the kidney machine is progressing. At the present time over 16,000 coupons have been collected at the Glasco School and the drive is continuing. The Mt. Marion School has joined in the drive and any Betty Crocker General Mills Coupons, expired or current, can be left at either school. The deadline has been moved up until the end of 1971.

The Glasco PTA is also collecting used typewriters and rocking chairs for use at the Glasco School. Anyone having these items may leave them at the Glasco School any time during the school day.

Mrs. Michael Piastro, 5th grade teacher at the Glasco School, has announced that students of the school will participate in an Environmental Workday on Saturday, April 24. On Friday, April 23 the school will accept magazines, newspapers, glass jars and bottles and aluminum cans for recycling. On Saturday, April 24 the members of the Glasco PTA are asked to meet at the school with the older children of the Glasco School to sort the collection received and to travel along the main roads in Glasco and Route 32 cleaning up the roadside.

The PTA is planning its April 26 meeting as a candidate night for the Saugerties Central School Board. Also at the April meeting Norman Bolinder, principal at the Glasco School, will give a progress report on planning for next year's grouping of students.

On-Job Training

SAUGERTIES

A 25-week program to train ar assistant surveyor in Saugerties is among five new on-the-job training programs of the State Labor Department's Division of Employment announced by Gov. Rockefeller under the State Manpower Training Act.

The current project will train 32 persons in four upstate counties in skilled occupations. Thirty-one will be hired from among the unemployed.

In Saugerties, Thomas W. Maines, a licensed land surveyor, is sponsoring the program to train one unemployed person as an assistant surveyor.

Under the Manpower Training Act, the state will reimburse the firms a total of $9,744 as a portion of the total training cost. The firms will assume the remainder of the cost, including trainee wages.

Employers wanting information on how to establish a job training program may write to the Division of Employment, State Department of Labor, State Office Building Campus, Albany, 12201.

Another Paper Drive

SAUGERTIES

The Junior and Senior High youth of Saugerties United Methodist Church, Washington Avenue and Post Streets, Saugerties, have collected between 12 and 15 tons of magazines and newspapers for the ecology and conservation emphasis.

The last collection date, March 27, saw an increase in comunity support and interest as the youth and adult advisors responded to phone calls and pickup locations from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The youth of the church are grateful for this community interest and support, and urge all Saugerties residents to continue collecting their magazines and newspapers for the next collection date, Saturday, April 24. If residents have an abundance of magazines and newspapers and need to have them stored, they may be brought to the parish house of the church, 59 Post Street and left on the porch or left basement storage area of the Underhill House on Post Street.

Youth of the church are now arranging for transportation for the papers and will take them to the paper mill in Napanoch for recycling and processing as used paper.

Residents of the community are urged to continue their efforts in this area to help with the conservation of our woodlands. If you have papers and magazines and do not have room to store them until April 27, call the church office Tuesday through Thursday mornings between 9:30 and 12 noon.

Funds received from the magazine and paper drives will be applied to the building fund pledge made by the youth of the church and to youth-sponsored projects.

SUBJECT OF RESTORATION
(Freeman photo by Haines)

Meeting to Discuss Sawyer Grist Mill

SAUGERTIES — In mid-February a survey letter was sent by the Woman's Club of Saugerties to area clubs and organizations in Saugerties to determine the interest in restoring the old Sawyer Grist Mill.

The response has been very encouraging, and an organizational meeting has been arranged by Woman's Club members Mrs. Edward Jabs and Mrs. Robert Anderson for Wednesday, April 21, at 8 p.m. in Saugerties Savings Bank meeting room.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the formation of the Little Sawyer Association. This will be a separate and independent association composed of community-minded men and women to research, plan, and direct the restoration of the Grist Mill in Seamon Park. All club representatives and individuals interested in the restoration of the Saugerties landmark are welcome to attend and participate in this meeting.

Rosarian Topic Sex Education

SAUGERTIES — Guest speaker for the recent meeting of St. Mary of the Snow Rosary Society was Dr. Kurken V. Kirk, obstetrician and gynecologist from Kingston. Introduced by Mrs. George Leombruno, Dr. Kirk showed films and gave an informative talk concerning sex education in the school and the many problems facing the children and society today.

President Mrs. Albert Treu presided at the business meeting. The slate of new officers will be announced at the May 6 meeting.

Mrs. Alan Roos, chairman of the March rummage sale, thanked her comitte members and all those who helped make the rummage sale a success.

Mrs. Louis Carpino, chairman for the Communion breakfast, announced it will be held at the Flamingo Restaurant on Thursday, May 6 after a special 7 o'clock Mass. Guest speaker will be Father Schraub from Mt. St. Alphonsus. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. William Rooney, Mrs. Frank Caffrey and Mrs. Treu. Deadline for the tickets will be April 20.

A bake sale is scheduled for Saturday, April 24 after the 7 o'clock Mass, and Sunday, April 25, after the 8, 9, and 10:15 Masses. Anyone wishing to bake or work on these two days that haven't signed up, may do so by contacting Mrs. Arthur Van Benschoten or Mrs. Ronald Kunst.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rooney, Mrs. Caffrey and Mrs. John Yates.

Saugerties Flower Show Arrangements Set

SAUGERTIES — Arrangements for the annual flower show were reviewed at the recent meeting of Saugerties Society of Little Gardens held at First Congregational Church with Mrs. John Whritenor, vice president, presiding.

On June 9 the annual flower show will be held in the Masonic Hall, Russell Street, Saugerties. The theme is Flowers on Stage. In order to enter the Junior division, children and groups of children should get started immediately planting their roots or seeds. The Junior division for horticulture is as follows:

Class 1. Roots — A plant started by the child from a sweet potato, carrot top, pineapple top, etc. Container not to exceed 6 inches. Grade K-4.

Class 2. The Caretaker — A flowering plant started from seeds. Container not to exceed 6 inches. Grade 5-9.

Horticulture report was given by Mrs. Harold Kamp. She reported that homeowners should be on the lookout for dogwood borers at this time of year.

Mrs. Augustus Modjeska gave a report on conservation. The ivory-billed woodpecker, thought to be extinct, has been heard in a swamp in South Carolina and also in Texas.

Mrs. James Babb was welcomed as a new member of the club.

The Third District spring meeting will be held May 6 at Michaels, on 9G, Hyde Park. Dr. C. M. Suter's topic will be Trees—Sense and Cents.

The program for the day was Environment and You, a program on ecology, accompanied by film clips. It was presented by Mrs. Frank Greco. It involved nature's and man's pollution, causes and ways to clean them up. The public must become interested and attend meetings on zoning, civic beautification, salvage programs and most important become involved, in order to help his community overcome pollution, she observed.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Donald Beckert, Mrs. William Cowley and Mrs. Robert Finger.

WHITA Plans School Board Candidate Night

KINGSTON

WHITA — "We've Had It Taxpayers Association of Ulster County, Inc." has made plans to hold a Meet the Candidates Night for the Kingston Consolidated School Board. This event will be held Thursday, April 22, at 7:30 p. m. at the George Washington School auditorium, Wall Street.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. Amelia Nugent of Rochester. More details regarding Mrs. Nugent's speech topic will be announced.

WHITA plans to invite all candidates for the school board to meet with the taxpayers and tell why they are motivated to run for this unsalaried position.

It would be appreciated if all candidates would contact Mrs. Audrey Countryman, secretary of WHITA Board of Directors, of their intention to attend this meeting, since most have not filed petitions as of this date.

Flood Control Will Observe Trends in Area

HIGHLAND

The Mid-Hudson Area Flood Forecasting Committee has been contracted by the National Weather Service to observe weather trends in this region and to compile climatalogical data, it was announced by LeRoy Fein, chairman of the group.

From weather monitoring stations in Poughkeepsie and Clinton Corners, the flood group will observe all conditions, whether normal or unusual, and will keep daily records of all occurences.

Since most weather conditions travel from west to east, the volunteer group, which includes the Wallkilll Valley Flood Forecasting Committee, will serve as the direct weather information center for Connecticut.

In addition, rain gauges and other equipment will be set up that will automatically record and send data to Albany for further compution.

The program, which began April 1, is for observation purposes only, stated Fein. The group will not forecast weather conditions.

The program was one of 25 to be set up by the National Weather Service, formally the United States Weather Bureau, in the Northeast.

Principal Requests Transfer

ELLENVILLE

Clark Bloom, assistant principal of the Ellenville Junior-Senior High School, has requested a transfer to the position he previously held as teacher of mathematics, announced Thomas E. Hayden, superintendent of schools, Thursday.

Bloom has served as the assistant principal of the school since January 1969, and was the first person to hold the position.

An Annapolis graduate, Bloom has served as teacher, supervisor, and administrator in the Ellenville district.

Bloom stated he felt he would prefer to return to his classroom teaching duties.

Hayden stated he could see no reason why the Board of Education would not grant Bloom's request, and further that he felt fortunate that he had the services of Bloom over the past two years.

Mobile Registration, Food Stamps

Two Proposals Face Difficulty

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — Two previously announced proposals to bring mobile election registration to the people and to provide a food stamp office in New Palz, have run into difficulty.

The proposed food stamp office to accommodate the increasing numbers of college students who are making application for the stamps has been vetoed by Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons.

He said he "cannot see the need" for a branch office for several reasons. He cites the probable revision of the food stamp program by either April 15 or May 1 and the fact that it has been proposed in Washington, D. C., that the federal food stamp program be abolished entirely.

Fitzsimmons explained that due to the big increase in applicants for the stamps in recent months, there has resulted long waiting lines outside the Welfare Office and confusion and crowding in the hallways of the County Office Building.

It was for this reason that members of his staff recently decided to service the students in New Paltz instead of Kingston. The decision was made at a time when Fitzsimmons was on vacation.

Fitzsimmons found another solution to the problem of confusion however and he is establishing set appointments at certain hours for the students at the County Office Building. He said things were running smoothly under the new system.

The matter of registering qualified persons at various locations throughout the county is presently in the hands of the Ulster County Commissioner of Elections Committee.

It is here and elsewhere that it appears to be meeting with some opposition. Some legislators feel that making such an accommodation would be catering to students and a waste of money.

Election Commissioner Seymour Werbalowsky feels otherwise, saying that little or no expense is involved due to the fact that members of the present Election Office staff would be carrying out the registration in such places as Saugerties, New Paltz and other high population centers outside the City of Kingston. He said the towns involved would provide the office space for the registration at no cost to the county and a county motor vehicle is available for transportation. The only cost, he therefore concludes, is for mileage.

Werbalowsky feels that with 10,000 additional persons to be registered in Ulster County due to the dropping of the voting age to 18, registration in the various towns by trained and knowledgeable persons will facilitate the giant task ahead. He points out that not all persons under 21 are students.

Opponents of the plan feel that those under 21 will not be able to vote until 1972 and therefore there is plenty of time for them to register.

Name Shienvold To Water Board

KINGSTON — Mayor Francis R. Koenig has appointed Jack Sheinvold of 105 Lounsberry Place to fill the unexpired term of the late Sam N. Mann on the Kingston Water Board.

Shienvold, a resident of Kingston for more than 25 years, will serve until May 31, 1972. His appointment takes effect immediately. Mann died on Jan. 25.

Shienvold, the owner of Savon Stores on Broadway, is married to the former Tillie Garver and is the father of two sons, Arnold, 21, a junior at Colgate University and Michael, 24, a resident of Albany.

The new commissioner is a member if the board of directors of Congregation Agudas Achim, the Kingston Boys Club, is a member of Masonic Lodge No. 343 and a member of American Legion Post 1298 in Port Ewen.

He was also active in the formation of the Jaycee Little League and the Biddy Basketball League.

Shienvold joins Thomas R. Lyle on the water board, Worthington L. Rider, William Leehive, Paul J. Schatzel and Frank C. Sass, the chairman.

Recycling Discussed At Gardiner Meeting

By WADE BURKHART

GARDINER — The Town of Gardiner is going to recycle its aluminum cans and bottles, and eventually its paper. Preliminary steps for the process were taken at Tuesday night's town board meeting.

Superintendent of Highways John Gray, with the backing of the board, said he will put up fences for depositories for aluminum cans and bottles in the town dump immediately. Town residents will be asked to separate their bottles and aluminum cans before bringing their refuse to the dump.

The cans will eventually sold for 10 cents per pound and the bottles for one cent per pound.

The actual procedure for getting the recyclable refuse from the dump to the disposal place has not yet been worked out, but the possibility of using the Boy Scouts (for a share of the profits) was presented to the board by Peter Rooney. Rooney also presented the board with an outline for a recycling program.

George Majestic, son of Town Supervisor George Majestic, is a student at Marist College a a member of a course on the environment. He reported his class was presently conducting two re-cycling projects in Poughkeepsie, and they were over 95 per cent successful with regard to participation.

The members of the Marist environment course will aid the town in completion of paperwork for the project and the securing of funds.

Superivsor Majestic said the job should be done "to benefit the human race," adding, "What we are doing now, others will do tomorrow."

The board set June 8 as the date for the town referendum on the question of elected versus appointed assessors. Supervisor Majestic urged all towns to take the steps necessary for a referendum rather than letting it become law by default as provided for in the measure. Following the meeting, he told The Freeman, "Any member of a town board who denies the people the privilege of deciding on this question should be voted out of office." Voting hours are tentatively set at 2 to 9 p.m. pending consultation with the office of the Secretary of State.

Attorney William Gruner presented an application on the part of Deerhaven Homes Inc., generally known as Deerhaven Trailer Park for town board approval of the placing of 38 more trailer sites on the 20 acre property. Gardiner ordinance requires one acre per trailer, and the board turned the request down. Majestic pointed out that since the site was partially located in a swamp, drainage would be a problem.

Jim Sims, the system engineer of Video Control Inc. a cable TV company, requested a franchise for Gardiner. The company's main station will be near Ardonia in the Town of Plattekill and a line will radiate to Gardiner. The board will give him an answer at the next meeting.

The question of the Jenkinstown Bridge and what to do with it may be settled in the near future. The board and the superintendent of highways will meet with Kenneth Hasbrouck of the Huguenot Historical Society April 24 at 2 p.m. to examine the bridge. The society has expressed an interest in saving the bridge.

The board went on record as opposing any attempt to set up regional planning boards with enforcement powers and will make its wishes known to all proper legislators and the governor in Albany.

Gray was authorized to advertise and take all legal steps toward the purchase of a used bulldozer for use in the town dump. From the machinery fund will come $500, and $8000 will be raised by a bond issue for the purchase.

A dog ordinance, the form of which will be decided later, will be placed on the referendum along with the assessor question June 8. Councilman John Bonagura told The Freeman that more deer were killed by dogs in Gardiner than in any other town in Ulster County, and all board members present agreed that something had to be done about the problem.

Social Agencies To Hear Talk

KINGSTON — Dr. Elmer S. McKay, chairman of the Kingston Narcotics Guidance Council, will be guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Council of Social Agencies to be held Tuesday noon at the YWCA.

Dr. McKay will speak concerning the work of the Narcotics Guidance Council. Anyone interested may attend. Reservations must be made by Monday morning.

A resident of Nissen Lane, West Hurley, he is staff physician at IBM Medical Department, Kingston, and is vice president of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Academy of General Practice and a member of the New York State Academy of General Practice Legislation and Occupational Medicine.

He is also chairman of the Commission on Economics, New York State Academy of General Practice, secretary of the Kingston Zoological Society and a member of the Kingston Kiwanis.

Paltz Grant Of $1,627 From Pure Waters

NEW PALTZ

The Village of New Paltz has received a grant of $1,627.74 under the Pure Waters program, according to an announcement made today by the office of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. It is one of 27 grants made to muncipalities in 18 counties.

The announcement is not exactly a surprise to village officials, as according to Village Clerk Wilbur C. Fredenburgh the village has had the money "for at least a couple of months."

The grant represents one-third of the direct cost of operating and maintaining the village's sewage treatment plant for fiscal year 1969-70.

According to the state, the grant phase of the Pure Waters program is designated to give encouragement to muncipalities to maintain high standards of waste treatment.

Pure Waters program grants are provided under the direction of the Department of Environmental Conservation.

Mayor Koenig and Messages

KINGSTON — Mayor Francis R. Koenig today issued his annual messages for Good Friday and Passover. The two major religious observances coincide this year as they did at the time of the New Testament account in his Passover message to those of the Jewish faith the mayor said:

"The strength of man's religious faith is rooted in his confidence that God, having created man in His own image, acknowledges the worth and value of every individual regardless of the position of life in which a man may find himself.

"Therefore, the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man are not pleasing platitudes but involve the basic issues of man's existence. To respect the rights of every individual and to temper our actions with love and understanding are an inherent part of man's worship of Almighty God. Such a message is brought to light by the Jewish observance of the Passover, the Festival of Freedom.

"On behalf of the City of Kingston, I extend my best wishes for a most happy and joyous Passover."

The mayor in his annual Good Friday message, said: "In lands where the Christian religion prevails and among churches throughout our land, Good Friday represents a day of solemn prayer and rededication, especially in thse times when all of us are more conscious of the everlasting debt we owe to our Creator.

"Today, more than ever, we appreciate the moral grandeur and strength of Christianity as the bulwark against the forces of destructive ideologies, and it is upon its uncompromising principles of human integrity, dignity, and decency that we shall further our better tomorrows.

"I, Francis R. Koenig, mayor of the City of Kingston, do hereby appeal to my fellow citizens to reverently observe Good Friday, April 9, 1971 particularly between 12 noon and 3 p.m. with meditation in church or chapel and I especially solicit the cooperation of employers in business and industry by permitting their employes to participate in this meditation during some part of these solemn hours."

The Festival of Passover—

KINGSTON — The Festival of Passover will be observed by the Jewish people beginning on Friday evening, April 9. Conservative and Orthodox Jews celebrate the first days of the Holiday on Saturday and Sunday, April 10 and 11, and the last days on Friday and Saturday, April 16 and 17. Reform Jews celebrate on Saturday, April 10 and Friday, April 16.

The Passover Holiday is observed to commemorate the historic event which resulted in the nationhood of the people of Israel, about 3,200 years ago. At that time the children of Israel, had been enslaved by the Egyptians for more than 200 years. They were tortured by Pharaoh's taskmasters, and suffered untold cruelties, until they reminded themselves of the God of their fathers, and called unto Him for salvation.

The great emancipator, Moses, came to their aid, and when Pharaoh refused to free them, ten plagues were visited upon him and his people. When the tenth plague, which was the slaying of the first born of the Egyptians, was about to break out, the Israelites were ordered to sacrifice a lamb, and smear blood of the lamb on the doorposts of their houses, so that the Angel of Death would pass over their houses in his mission to fulfill the plague.

The sacrifice was to be used for the Feast of the Passover, or in Hebrew, Pesach, and called the Paschal lamb, to be eaten on the eve of the 15th day of the Hebrew month of Nisan. On that night in the midst of their feast, the Israelites were hurried out to Egypt, because Pharaoh feared for his own life when he saw all the first-born Egyptians slain.

Not having time to wait for the dough of the bread to rise, the Israelites carried the unleavened flat dough on their shoulders in their exodus. This flat dough was called Matzos, and it being unleavened was the reason why no leavened foods are allowed to be eaten on this holiday.

After three days Pharaoh decided to pursue his former slaves, and bring them back to Egypt, but as he and his armed forces caught up with the Israelites, they were at the Red Sea. The waters of the Red Sea miraculously opened to let the Israelites pass through on dry land, but as Pharaoh and his hosts attempted to follow them, the waters returned and drowned the Egyptians. In this manner, the Israelites were freed from slavery and taught mankind the value of freedom and the equality of man.

At Congregation Ahavath Israel, at 100 Lucas Avenue, religious services will be held on Friday 7 a. m. for the Redemption of the First-Born.

The holiday services will be held on: Friday and Saturday, April 9 and 10, at 6:30 p. m. Saturday and Sunday, April 10 and 11, at 9:30 a.m.; Thursday and Friday, April 15 and 16, at 6:30 p.m.; and Friday and Saturday Mornings, April 16 and 17, at 9:30 a.m..

Yizkor (Memorial Services) wil be conducted on Saturday Morning, April 17, at 11 a.m.

Youth and Children's Services will be held every holiday morning at 10 a.m. The services will be conducted by Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman, assisted in the liturgy by Cantor David Katchen.

Saugerties Sets Budget Hearing

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN
SAUGERTIES

Thursday, April 15 at 8 p.m. has been set for the public hearing on the village budget for the fiscal year beginning June 1, it was announced at Monday night's Saugerties Village Board meeting.

Information as to the total amount of the proposed budget was not available at this time. The hearing will be held in the Village Clerk's Office.

Inquiries by a group of adults and youngsters representing Saugerties Youth Center and Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center about the possible closing of the youth center in the former discotheque store front on Main and Partition Streets revealed information that Mayor Cornelius M. Cox and Police Commissioner Walter Keefe have been conducting an investigation in regard to the operation of the youth center. Both advised that they have been making inquiries to determine how the center operates, the hours, age groups permitted and who the supervisory personnel are. They further advised that they had all the information they required except the identity of the six members of the youth center board of directors.

The Village Board was advised that these names will be furnished by Louis Grimaldi, executive director of Ulster County Community Action Committee at a meeting about the youth center to be held 8 p.m. tonight at Saugerties High School auditorium. The police comissioner and other members of the Village Board will be in attendance.

A letter from the State Transportation Department advised that preparations are being made to rehabilitate the roadbed of the Esopus Creek Bridge with construction scheduled this year. The Village Board approved a resolution authorizing them to close East Bridge Street to traffic during the construction period. There was also the matter of the water line attached to the bridge. A meeting has been requested with the Transportation Department and the Village Water Commissioners to discuss arrangements for the water line.

Police Commissioner Keefe presented a resolution for a department citation for Police Officer Charles Winters "for his keen observation and alert action in apprehending two men accused of robbing a general store in the Woodstock area." The presentation will be made by the police commissioner. Keefe also announced the appointment of a new patrolman, James Bunyar of Lafayette Street.

A two week period starting April 19 was set as cleanup week in Saugerties in conjunction with Gov. Rockefeller's proclamation of Earth Week. During the two week period the village's Public Works Department will collect all debris and refuse placed at the curb. Also the landfill will be open on Saturdays, April 24 and May 1 to facilitate cleanup activities.

Saugerties Memorial Post 5034,, VFW and Auxiliary were granted permission to conduct a Loyalty Day parade in the village on May 1.

Fire Commissioner Richard Underhill reported on successful conduct of a fire training exercise last Sunday at the former Satterfield residence on Washington Avenue. He commended Clifton Jones of Saugerties Ambulance Service and the other fire companies in township who participated.

Members of the Village Board accepted an invitation from the Womens Club of Saugerties to attend a meeting April 21 at 8 p.m. in Saugerties Savings Bank to discuss the resoration of the Sawyer Grist Mill.

Barrytown Site Not Approved

RED HOOK

The Dutchess County Planning Department has not approved the building of a residential development in Barrytown, Town of Red Hook, proposed by Vanalba Homes of Long Island.

The reason given was that the development does not lie inside that area proposed for central sewer and water development by the Town of Red Hook.

The plan was submitted to the Red Hook Town Board and relayed to the Town Planning Board and the county several months ago. It called for building townhouses, single family dwellings, and some service facilities such as grocery store and related buildings on Old Route 199 west of Route 9G.

The Town Planning Board has yet to make an official recommendation to the Town Board on the project. The opinions of either the town or county planning boards can be overturned by a 4-1 vote of the Town Board if it so desires.

While the Vanalba proposal included its own water and sewerage system, the Town Comprehensive Zoning Plan discourages privately owned treatment systems, especially since this would lie near the Sawkill drainage basin into the Hudson River.

The plan calls for 455 dwelling units in an area designated three-acres minimum residential. The Red Hook Zoning Law allows for subdivisions with a minimum of 50 acres of land, however.

Dutchess DA Updates Book On Drug Abuses

POUGHKEEPSIE

An updated pamphlet put out by the Dutchess County Office of the District Attorney has just been published, which updates a similar effort of two years ago.

DA Albert M. Rosenblatt describes it to The Freeman as a "dispassionate pamphlet which sets forth the laws, symptoms and appearances of various drugs and other relevant data."

And he points out that "perhaps the most significant portion of it is contained at the very end, consisting of a list of agencies, facilities and units operating in Dutchess County dealing with dangerous drugs."

His position is clearly stated in a preface, which reads partially, "Nothing is more tragic than indulgence in drugs through ignorance of the law or of their untoward effects on the mind and body."

He notes that, "Unfortunately, Dutchess County has seen the effects of this problem, particularly among younger persons, some of whose lives have been drastically impaired by the legal and medical consequences of unlawful drug use."

His opposition to "scare tactics" are explained in the pamphlet.

"Panic and irrational behavior coupled with scare tactics do little to solve the problems of potential drug abuse . . . The youth of today are far too sophisticated to respond to irrational approaches or to exaggerations in connection with drug use. It is important not to misrepresent the dangers of certain drugs by confusing addicting with non-addicting drugs and short range effects with long term consequences."

Whispell - Stevens Nuptials

MRS. CHARLES LeROY STEVENS III
(Lakeside Studio)

Old Dutch Church, Kingston, was the setting of the wedding of Miss Dawn Elizabeth Whispell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Whispell, RD 2, Box 4, Kingston, and Charles LeRoy Stevens III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens Jr., RD 2, Box 133A, Kingston, on Sunday, April 4. The Rev. Arthur Oudelmool officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Donald Bernard, organist, accompanied Mrs. Charles Benton who sang traditional wedding selections. The church was decorated with palms and Easter lilies.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father. She selected a gown of ivory silk organza net over taffetta. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves in reembroidered lace. The bouffant skirt was fashioned with an over tier of lace with a scalloped edging. Her silk illusion veil was secured to a pillbox headpiece of seed pearls that was handmade. Mrs. Stevens carried a lace covered Bible, accented with an orchid and streamers.

Mrs. Edward Dieter, Sawkill Trailer Park, served as matron of honor for her sister. Attendants were the Misses Deborah Signor, Winterhaven, Fla.; Nancy Zammillo and Paula Richamn, both of Kingston. Junior bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, Tammy and Melodie Whispell. They wore empire gowns of silk shantung, styled with long sleeves and scooped necklines. The honor attendant wore a medium blue gown and the other bridesmaids wore gowns of light blue and pink.

Miss Cheryl Alberstadt was flower girl. She wore a light blue gown and carried a miniature basket of daisies in assorted colors.

William Dolan of Sawkill served as best man. Ushers were Kevin Whispell, brother of the bride, Robert Stevens, both of Sawkill, and Robert Carr of Rosendale.

A reception for 110 guests was held at the Moose Hall, Prince Street, Kingston.

For her wedding journey to Washington, the bride wore a brown and red tweed with a red blouse and brown accessories.

The bride is employed by IBM, Kingston as a secretary and will be graduated from Kingston High School this June. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School, Class of 1967 and is serving six years with the National Guard. He is employed at Montgomery Wards, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens III will make their home on Neighborhood Road, Lake Katrine.

Conference: Women's Classical Union

The Women's Classical Union of Ulster of The Reformed Church in America will hold its annual Spring Conference at the Church of the Comforter in Kingston on Wednesday, April 21, at 7 p.m. Registration will start at 6:30 p.m.

All women of the Reformed Church are invited. Reservations are requested. They may be made through the local Guilds or women's socieities by April 16 (or direct to Mrs. Howard Hotaling Jr., or Mrs. John Mongin of Kingston if necessary.)

The Conference will include a special speaker, brief business meeting, a Silver Tea and a devotional period led by the Saugerties Women's Guild for Christian Service.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Rheutelia Andrews, a teacher of Black History and Assistant Director at Southern Normal High School, Brewton, Alabama. Mrs. Andrews attended Southern Normal herself and received her BS from Florida A. & M. University in 1948, with additional study at Tuskegee Institute and Jefferson Davis College.

Southern Normal, or "Brewton," has been sponsored by The Reformed Church since 1919. Today it is a preparatory school with a varied curriculum. Fully accredited by the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, it prepares students to enter colleges upon graduation. An important aim of the school is that students come to possess the knowledge, skills and abilities required for vocations and professions. Lovely Bergen Memorial Chapel is the center of the school's devotional life.

Mrs. Andrews wrote to the Classical Union after receiving a Freeman clipping informing of Kingston's celebration of Sojourner Truth Day on March 12. She said, "I wished so much that these events would have taken place during my visit there. The clipping was highly informative. We have just studied about Sojourner Truth in one of my classes."

Mrs Andrews addded, "This term we declared the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr., as Human Relations Day, with programs at the school and a local church. Later we celebrated Black History Week and were fortunate to have visiting the son of our founder, James Dooley Jr., who participated in our Annual Founder's Day service the Wednesday of Black History Week. An alumnus who is a minister in one of our larger Alabama cities brought the Founder's Day message."

Sorosis Lists Art Winners

Sorosis Club of Kingston has announced the entries of the Kingston High School senior art students won first and second prizes at the District level competition of the Federated Women's Club's Art Contest. First prize winner is the entry of Harry Stahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stahl of Columbia Street, Sunset Park, Kingston. The picture is acrylic on wood with clear color and strong design. Second place winner, also an acrylic paint on wood, was entered by Gary Barten, son of Mr and Mrs. Theodore Barten, 60 Florence Street Kingston. All entries were winners of local contests from seven counties making up the Third District. These are Albany, Columbia, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster Counties. Stahl's winning picture will again compete with the other winners of the nine state districts at the Federated Women's convention in May at Cooperstown.

Kingston High School teachers who instructed these talented students are Mrs. Richard Stigbert and Miss Patricia Bendazzi. Judges at the local contest were Mrs. Janet Grenda of Stone Ridge, Mrs. Nancy Angeloch of Woodstock and Mrs. Jane Neroni of Stone Ridge.

Sorosis held its regular meeting on Monday morning at the home of Miss Harriet Church in High Falls with the president, Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey chairing the devotional period. She used as her theme "Looking at the Cross."

Mrs. Henze reported on the progress of the art contest. Arrangement were finalized for the Sewing Contest and Fashion Show of Senior High School and Board of Cooperative Educational Services Home Economic classes which will be held at the next meeting on April 19th at the home of Mrs. Reynolds. The students will model their own handiwork and the judging will be done by Sorosis members.

Mrs. Rylance presented to the club the changes and the updating of the constitution and by-laws is recommended by the committee which had been appointed by the president to make a study of the old by-laws. Members voted to adopt the recommended changes.

Miss Harriet Church and Miss Mary Newman reported on the progress they are making in filling a large scrap book with interesting data found in the club's old records. Printed programs of each year's activities and special events and interesting projects enjoyed by Sorosis since its beginning in 1921 are to be displayed in this book.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. William Markle of Bloomington gave a review of the book written by Gene Smith entitled "The Shattered Dream". The book is a biography of Herbert Hoover, the 30th President of the United States.

Mrs. John Gill assisted the hostess by pouring at the coffee hour enjoyed prior to the meeting.

Prospective Bride Of L. Carpinelli

ELIZABETH CROSSMAN
(Lakeside Stuido)

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crossman of Oriental, N.C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Lauren P. Carpinelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli of 315 Main Street, Kingston.

Miss Crossman is a graduate of Rondout Valley Central High School and attended Albany Medical School of Nursing. She is employed by Kingston Hospital.

Her fiance is a graduate of Kingston High School. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the Citadel, Military College of S.C., and served two years with the U.S. Marine Corps. He is self employed in the electrical business.

A fall wedding is planned.

Coffee Hour Given At Senior Residence

On Wednesday, Mar. 31, a coffee hour was given in Benedictine Hospital Senior Residence. It was also an Informational Workshop for mothers of Candy Stripers. The purpose of the meeting was to inform mothers of the aims of the Candy Striper program. A roundtable discussion was held.

Mrs. John Nilsen, chairman of the Candy Striper Program for the Auxiliary, opened the meeting with an explanation of the goals of the program and informed the mothers of some of the rules Candy Stripers are asked to observe while working in the hospital. While the girls' work provides an important and helpful service to the community, mothers felt their daughters were benefiting personally through their volunteer work.

Mrs. Mansoor Hakim, president of the Auxiliary, explained the new Health Careers Program that the Auxiliary will be introducing, informing the girls of the many hospital - connected careers that are so vitally important. Mrs. Guy Valeo, director of the volunteer services, answered many of the questions concerning various aspects of the program. Sister Gabrielle, director of nursing services, also spoke briefly.

No Way to Change Guy's Winning Formula

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I knew this guy in the Army in Korea. A likable, handsome fellow. Good manners and smooth. He never had to buy his favors from the pitiful little native girls. So charming was he, they were pleased to accommodate him with no pay.

Then he returned to the states and married my sister in law. I thought he would settle down like the rest of us, but he is still a Don Juan with the ladies, and can make love to his best friend's wife, cool as a cucumber, 10 minutes before her husband is due home.

This character has a small business, heavily mortgaged. Also a home, likewise encumbered. His wife has to hold an outside job to help meet the payments. She is an attractive, loving wife and a good mother. She's left alone so often at night you'd think she'd catch on, but she believes his stories of "having to work late," or "meet an old friend."

I haven't even told my wife what I know. I have seen so many wives slaving outside the home while their husbands always seem to have enough money to entertain girl friends. Is this part of a woman's fate? What should I do?

DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: You could try to get your brother in law to shape up, but from your description of him, he's not likely to change a winning formula.

There is no such thing as "a woman's fate." There have always been good, trusting women whose charming husbands have managed to deceive them for years. It evens out tho. Some good, trusting husbands slave away while their two-timing wives play the same game.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband has asked me not to run the dishwasher while he is in the shower because it makes the shower water cold. Every now and then I forget, so when I do, he pours a glass of cold water on my back when I'm in the tub. He says it's not in the spirit of revenge. It's just a "reminder." I'd like your opinion.

CHILLED IN SUMTER, N.C.

DEAR CHILLED: I'm sure it's a "reminder" — but no matter what he says, it's also revenge.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter ran away and married her first cousin, which has had us in an uproar ever since. We have heard it is against the law for first cousins to marry in Illinois because there is a good chance that their kids will not be right in the head.

We were against this marriage for other reasons which I don't want to mention because this is a small town and the situation would be well-known here.

Since our daughter and her cousin are both over 21, is there anything we can do about it?

UPSET IN ILLINOIS

DEAR UPSET: Marriage between first cousins is considered "incestuous" in Illinois. However a petition for annulment must be filed in the court to dissolve the marriage. Your daughter should see an attorney.

Gala Social Evening At Ahavath Israel

Congregation Ahavath Israel feted its congregants and sisterhood members at a gala social evening on Saturday night, Apr. 3 at the synagogue building at 100 Lucas Avenue, Kingston.

This special event, which was attended by 125 members, started with a cocktail hour followed by an Israeli film entitled "Sallah", a bittersweet comedy starring the famed Israeli dramatic star Haym Topol. The evening concluded with a late-nite supper.

The evening paid tribute to its Sisterhood who completed its five-year $20,000 pledge to the new synagogue's building fund.

Ephraim Propp, president of the congregation, and Mrs. Shiela Jacobs, sisterhood president, addressed members, praising the efforts and dedication in fulfilling this commitment.

Credited with making this evening a success were Gerald Feit, Al Rose, Ephraim Propp, Arthur Schiff, and Dr. Murray Greene. Also the Mmes. Eleanor Werbelowsky, Shoshana AxLer, Thelma Rosenberg and Shirley Greene.

Members were asked to mark their calendars of the next social event of the season, the fifth annual Dedication Dinner-Dance to be held on May 1, at the Synagogue building at 100 Lucas Avenue. The evening will feature a cocktail-smorgasboord hour, dinner, and dancing and entertainment. Details for this event will be announced soon.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

(© 1971, Emily Post Institute, Inc.)

DEAR MRS. POST: You recently had a question about children using a neighbor's property as a highway. I am not a lawyer, but at least two legal aspects are involved in matters of this sort. First, property can become a public thruway from continued use by trespassers — the portion used no longer belongs to the owner if he makes no attempt to close it to traffic, foot or auto.

Second, the property owner may be sued if anyone is injured while using his property as a shortcut.

It seems that there is more involved here than just keeping peace. Children must learn to respect private property, and homeowners should be aware of their liability.

J.K.

DEAR MR. K: I quite agree that children should be taught to respect other people's property. Often, when they do not, the person offended must take discipline into his own hands. I advised homeowners to ask children to use a route which would not harm the property or bother the residents. I also suggest that the owners forbid children to cross the property if they do not comply.

Naturally, you would have to take action if adults were to make a road across your property. But I find it hard to believe that children going to school or playing on part of one's grounds will be cause for a lawsuit. If so, it is a sad commentary on the understanding, unselfishness and thoughtfulness of "neighbors."

ECOLOGY MEETING SCHEDULED—Temple Emanuel Sisterhood has rescheduled its meeting on Ecology for tonight. It had been canceled previously because of inclement weather. After a short business meeting, Dr. Frank Caruccio, associate professor of Geology at State University College at New Paltz will speak about "What the Consumer Can Do to Prevent Further Pollution and Protect the Environment." The meeting is open to the public at 9 p. m. In conjunction with the program, members of the Ulster County Garden Club will have a display on Ecology. The garden club maintains the gardens at the Senate House Museum. Herbert Cutler, curator of the museum, is pictured here with a member of the club, Mrs. John Bragg, and Mrs. William Selden, social action chairman for the Sisterhood. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Supermarket Etiquette for Milady

How many times have you been "bugged" at the supermarket by some thoughtless shopper? asks Phyllis W Barlow, Extension Home Economist. A few dos and don'ts observed by everyone would make the task of shopping a lot more pleasant.

1. Be careful. Push carts with care. If you accidentally bump your cart into someone, stop and apologize sincerely.

2. Be gentle. Avoid unnecessary handling of fresh fruits and vegetables.

3. Be neat. If you knock something off a shelf, pick it up and put it back. If you accidently break something, call a clerk so he can clean it up.

4. Be orderly. If you change your mind about buying something, return the item to its proper shelf.

5. Be organized. Complete all your shopping before entering the check-out line. Asking someone else to push your cart forward while you pick up forgotten items is not cricket.

6. Be smart. Learn the rules of the "express line." Usually, it's the number of items, not the number of pieces that count. In most stores six loaves of bread and eight cans of soup are two items.

7. Be cooperative. Place merchandise on the counter so the cashier can see prices. Keep "two for" items together.

How to be Absolutely Hateful

1. On a busy shopping day, take up two spaces in the parking lot.

2. Even if you can shop at any time of day or any day of the week — wait until 5 p.m. to do your week's shopping. Business people returning from work don't mind waiting till you're through.

3. Let the children race all over the store.

4. If you meet friends and decide to chat, don't move to one side. Stand in the middle of the aisle.

5. If you're in front of a shelf or showcase, don't let anyone else look too. After all, you got there first.

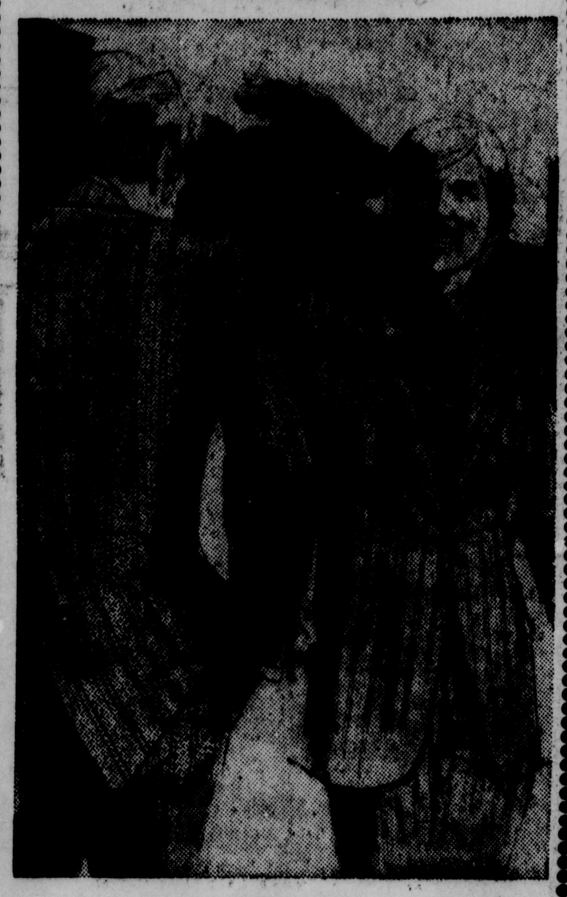

6. Leave your cart in the middle of the aisle and run off to get something you need. Someone else will move your cart out of the way.

7. Never get on the end of a check-out line — always push ahead of someone. If you're aggressive enough it might work.

Men's Liberation Movement?

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Men's Liberation Movement has started. Men's Lib! That's right. And women to a large measure are responsible.

The revolution, although still not at the noisy stage of marches and picketing and . . .er, shorts burnings, definitely is here. No organization comparable to, say, the Women's Lib now which has some male members is behind the movement — yet. But when the men saw what the activist women's groups were doing to arouse public opinion, they caught on fast.

"The men began to think about themselves. The men are saying, 'I want more freedom too,'" says Dr. Ernest Dichter, a pioneer in the study of behavior and social mores.

Dichter heads up the Institute for Motivational research, Inc., with headquarters at Croton-on-Hudson, and offices in Zurich, Munich, London, Barcelona and Paris.

"Men have reason for complaint," said Dichter, "The concept of the man as the dominant factor in family life has given away to that of equality with the woman in decision making, particularly since a high proportion of wives are also breadwinners.

"Male domains seem to be on the wane. Family vacations and backyard sociability appear to be more acceptable than hunting and fishing trips and the neighborhood tavern."

In a way, he said, man has brought all this on himself — "Not enough self-assurance, a certain degree of momism . . . the fear if he gives woman equality he will give up his own superority."

Preservation of the "symbols" of virility has been one of man's big hangups, Dichter continued.

Women's Lib started the men asking "What about us?", said Dichter. The man asks, "Why am I always the one to pay the alimony? Why should I be the sole provider? She (the wife) can work, why doesn't she?"

The man is saying, "I want more freedom too."

Dichter sees a lot of the liberation slow in arriving — the woman paying alimony for instance — for some things are deeply entrenched in our thinking.

But one day, he said, there might be "AWOLs from marriage . . . not a bid idea, either. Might cut down on the number of divorces."

Mets Leave Montreal Cold in Shea Opener

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets won their first season opening game at Shea Stadium in their history Tuesday, and the effect of it left them numb.

They may rejoice today, if they've thawed out.

Playing under the most adverse conditions imagineable, the Mets defeated the Montreal Expos, 4-2, in a rain-shortened four and a half inning affair that left every player longing to return to Florida.

The talk in the clubhouse afterwards was not about the game but about the horrid weather, which both managers Gil Hodges of the Mets and Gene Mauch of the Expos agreed was the worse they had ever been exposed to in their baseball careers.

Winds of up to 40 miles per hour swirled through the stadium accompanied by a steady rain which turned to sleet by the fifth inning. It was so cold that pine tar would not stick to the batters hands and outfielders dreaded the thought of making a long throw.

"I can't remember any weather worse than this since I've been in baseball," said Hodges. "A couple of years ago I remember it snowed, but the thing that made it so bad today was the wind. It went right through you. But we're 1-0 and that sort of warms me up a little."

The Mets prevailed because they struck for three runs early and were able to hold on behind Tom Seaver for the necessary one and one-half innings. Seaver gave up four hits and walked four in his five-inning stint but protected the lead successfully by allowing just one base runner over the last two innings he worked. "I thought he threw pretty well considering the weather," said Hodges. "His control was a little off but that was to be expected under the circumstances. He was not going to pitch after the fifth inning, though Once there was a delay he was not going to come back."

It was a tough way to lose an opener, but the Expos couldn't fault plate umpire Al Barlick for calling the game after a rain delay of an hour in the bottom of the fifth. The game had previously been delayed 50 minutes at the start because of rain.

"I would like to have finished the entire game," said Montreal outfielder Rusty Staub, "but it was pretty miserable. I figure they were right in stopping it when they did. I don't know what the wind chill factor was out there, but it had to be a dandy."

Say Hey Kid Opens With Homer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Say Hey, how's that for openers?

Willie Mays wasted no time getting into the swing of the 1971 baseball season. In fact, the onetime Say Hey Kid, didn't even waste any pitches.

Mays rocked the first pitch he saw for his 629th career home run Tuesday night, trigering San Francisco's 4-0 victory over San Diego in their National League opener.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, Los Angeles shut out Houston 2-0, Chicago shaded St. Louis 2-1 in 10 innings, Pittsburgh trimmed Philadelphia 4-2, and New York defeated Montreal 4-2 in a game ended by rain in the fifth inning. Atlanta and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Mays, who is one month away from his 40th birthday, unloaded on Tom Phoebus' first pitch to him in the opening inning and gave the ex-Baltimore hurler an instant if unpleasant welcome to the National League.

Later, Mays doubled and scored the Giants' third run, giving Juan Marichal all the offense he needed. The high-kicking San Francisco ace limited the Padres to five hits and coasted to the victory.

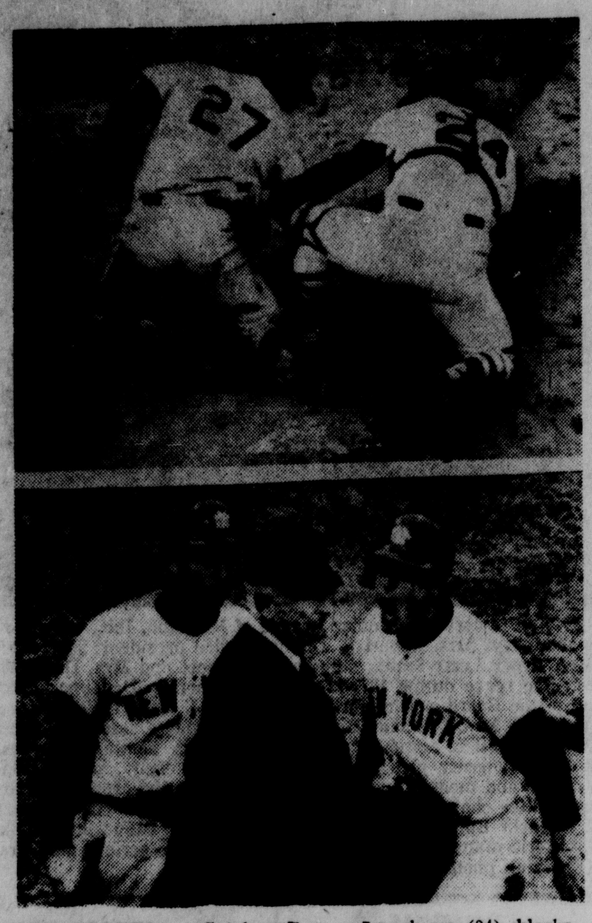

In Chicago, two other aces, Bob Gibson of St. Louis and the Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins, hooked up in a classic pitcher's duel. Billy Williams ended that confrontation with a 10th inning homer to win it for Jenkins.

Joe Torre's seventh inning home—one of only three hits allowed by Jenkins—had tied the game.

Billy Buckner's first major league homer produced both Los Angeles runs and Claude Osteen's four-hit pitching carried the Dodgers past the Astros.

Buckner tagged Houston's Don Wilson for the homer in the fourth inning after Willie Davis had singled. That was all Osteen needed.

Dock Ellis scattered eight hits and Pittsburgh took advantage of four Philadelphia errors to whip the Phillies. Ellis drove in one of the Pirate runs with a neat bunt. Later, Ellis sacrificed again, setting up another Pittsburgh run.

WHY ARGUE? — Catcher Duane Josephson (24) blocks the plate as he puts the tag on Jim Lyttle (27) of the Yankees on a bases loaded hit by teammate Horace Clarke which scored Danny Cater, but a perfect throw by Sox Right Fielder Reggie Smith to the plate kept Lyttle from scoring. Bottom, Lyttle (R) shouts at Umpire John Flaherty (C) as teammate Thurman Munson (L) joins in during the 8th inning argument which followed the play. The Red Sox went on to win the season opener 3-1. Tigers Win; Yanks Lose

By United Press International

Billy Martin's regime as manager of the Detroit Tigers is off to a successful start thanks to a pair of Motor City World Series heroes named Mickey Lolich and Jim Northrup.

Martin made his debut as the Tigers' manager Tuesday before a crowd of 54,089, largest ever to see a Detroit opener, and hardly had to lift a finger in an 8-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The real heroes, however, were Lolich and Northrup, Tiger standouts in the 1968 World Series victory over the St. Louis Cardinals but big disappointments in 1970 when Detroit limped home fourth in the American League East 29 games behind the Baltimore Orioles.

Lolich, who was supposed to replace Denny McLain as the Tigers' No. 1 starter in 1970 but had a 14-19 record, pitched a six-hitter and singled home a run. Northrup, who had a .262 average with 24 homers and 80 RBIs in 1970, delivered a two-run triple and scored two runs to lead the Tigers' nine-hit attack.

Northrup, playing first base for the first time in his career, tripled home two runs in the fourth and scored the third run of the inning on a single by Willie Horton. The outburst gave the Tigers a 7-1 lead and Lolich coasted the rest of the way, striking out seven and walking one.

Lolich, who has a reputation for being a slow starter but has a 4-0 record in openers, yielded the Indians' runs on a triple by Roy Foster in the fourth and a single by Larry Hodge in the fifth. Steve Hargan, pitching for the Indians because of a death in the family of Cleveland ace Sam McDowell, suffered the loss.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees 3-1, the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Minnesota Twins 7-2 and the Kansas City Royals topped the California Angels 4-1 in other AL openers.

Ray Culp pitched a three-hitter and drove in what proved to be the winning run with an infield out in the seventh as the Red Sox won their opener before a crowd of 34,517 at Boston. A 17-game winner in 1970, Culp carried a one-hit shutout into the eighth when the Yankees scored their run on three singles and an error.

Culp drove in the Red Sox' second run with a grounder to short after singles by George Scott and Duane Josephson. Billy Conigliaro's sacrifice and an intentional walk. Stan Bahnsen, who yielded two runs and eight hits in seven innings, was the loser.

Andy Kosco drove in four runs with a homer, a fielder's choice and a two-run double to lead Milwaukee's 12-hit attack which tagged Jim Perry, a 24-game winner and AL Cy Young Award winner in 1970, with the defeat. Bernie Smith drove in two runs for the Brewers with a bases-filled double. Marty Pattin, 14-12 in 1970, went the distance for the Brewers.

Lou Piniella singled and doubled, scored two runs and Dick Drago threw a six-hitter for Kansas City in its victory over California. Cookie Rojas drove home Piniella both times, first ona forceout and then on a sacrifice fly. Clyde Wright, a 22-game winner for the Angels last season, took the loss.

Offtrack Betting Starts Thursday

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 20-year vision of a great new revenue producing source for the city becomes a reality Thursday with the shaky start of offtrack betting in New York.

The city's offtrack betting corporation will limp to the starting gate carrying $5.5 million in debts and the burden of faulty planning and months of hostility by race tracks and aroused labor unions.

The so-called "New Game in Town," gets underway after 10:30 a.m. ceremonies at Grand Central Terminal where Mayor Lindsay and OTB chairman Howard J. Samuels will open 10 offtrack betting windows. At noon, six windows will be opened for business at the city's other betting shop in Queens.

After ribbon cutting ceremonies, bets will be taken on the night's program of harness races at Roosevelt Raceway in Westbury, L.I. Because both betting places will close before post time, winners will not be able to collect until Friday.

The early action at the two betting places will be limited to Roosevelt because of the continuing technical and labor difficulties at Aqueduct where the thoroughbreds have been racing for a month. Three more betting shops, including one at Pennsylvania Station, are expected to open for Roosevelt betting by April 30.

Samuels, in acknowledging OTB's difficult birth, conceded he expects growing pains as well. Four of the state's 12 harness and thoroughbred tracks are in court challenging the constitutionality of the offtrack betting law.

The tracks contend their one per cent share of the offtrack betting handle is unfair. They argue they stand to lose on attendance and ontrack betting as a result of the new system. The tracks also want a voice in the undertaking.

Samuels has expressed concern over the possibility of being limited for some time to the trotters. Traditionally, most of the bookie action is on the thoroughbreds.

OTB's labor problems continue. Unions, fearing layoffs, are resisting the venture at Yonkers, Belmont and Saratoga tracks as well as the "Big A." They want assurances of job security if offtrack wagering cuts into track attendance and betting.

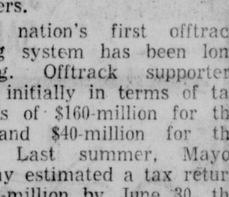

Technically, OTB is in poor shape. With its central computers still rated unrealiable, the time consuming and expensive tasks of filling out and checking the three-part betting slips will be done manually.

The slips allow for wagers of $2, $10, $50 and $100. A customer who bets $4 will fill out two slips; one betting $6 across the board fills outs three. Choices will be designated by letters rather than numbers.

The nation's first offtrack betting system has been long coming. Offtrack supporters spoke initially in terms of tax returns of $160-million for the city and $40-million for the state. Last summer, Mayor Lindsay estimated a tax return of $50-million by June 30, the end of the current fiscal year. Now Samuels said the betting places "might" produce $25-million during the first full year.

The system, Samuels says, can't hope to go big unless the state legislature includes such other sports as football and baseball.

Rondout-New Paltz Top Rated in UCAL

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON

The Ganders of Rondout Valley, run away winners of the Ulster County Athletic League baseball crown in 1970, and New Paltz, a team of veteran performers, figure to battle it out for this year's UCAL title.

Mike Alecca, George Wallack and Bruce Burr, three All-County, All-UCAL picks last season, return to the fold this year for Gander coach Hal Ross.

"We lost John Durcan, Mike Krom, Vaughn Stancage and Jim DeWitt from last year's team," said Ross. "But, we do have quite a few returning veterans."

Alecca, an outfielder-pitcher, was the leading hurler on the squad and hit .325. Wallack, the shortstop, batted .372 and will join Billy Wilkins to form one of the most effective keystone combinations in the UCAL. Burr, one of the leading receivers in the area, starred on defense and hit .285.

Battling for positions are: Hyler VanWagenen, a front-line chucker; Mike Botsokas, Gene Terwilliger, Ed Barry, Brian McGana, Mark Stryker, Jim Schaefer, Ernie Kasloski, Jim Meigel, veteran Les Green and newcomer Mark Shield.

"I figure that the league has got to be tougher this time around," said Ross. "New Paltz, Highland, Marlboro and Onteora will all be ready. But, as last year's champs, we'll be right in the thick of it," concluded Ross.

New Paltz Veterans

There is, or rather, there are, very definite reasons why most area baseball fans feel that New Paltz will be the biggest challenge to the Ganders' repeat hopes.

Coach Bill Freer's lads, one of the youngest teams on the circuit last season, had only one of their number graduate and have 11 lettermen returning.

"We lost Ray Zappone, who is now pitching for Ulster County Community College," said Freer. "But, he's the only one we lost. Of course, you can't go without a player like Ray and not feel it."

Harold Anderson, All-County, All-UCAL pitck at catcher last season, and Rick Pasavento, a .400+ hitter in his sophomore year, pace the Huguenots.

Anderson, considered by many to be a catcher of major league caliber, despite his .269 batting average, has all the tools.

Pesavento caught everyone by surprise with his outstanding first-year performance at the plate. A tremendous hitter in the clutch, Pesavento's offensive ability overshadowed the fine defensive job he did at second base.

Bill Schiller and Rick McCord will handle the pitching chores and Jay Ackert will open at shortstop. Brad Hart appears set as Freer's third baseman while John Palonis and Paul Rode battle it out at first base.

Vinnie Broganono is the starting left fielder with Ed Grainger in center. "Right field is open to anybody who can hit," said Freer.

"We're ready," said Freer. "We have everybody back. We're as good as anybody. If we put it all together, we have a good, tough ball club," concluded Freer.

Highland Ready

Coach Lem Atkins' Highland team finished second in the UCAL last season with an 8-4 record, 12-7 overall. One of the 12 wins was a 3-2 decision over Arlington of the Dutchess County Scholastic League and one of the top high school baseball teams in New York State.

Three All-UCAL selections lead the Highlanders as they try for the top spot. Bob Mattice, pitcher-first base and a power hitter, will be called upon to pace the squad. Doug Geer has been moved from third to short and Mike Sisco stays at second.

Other veterans are: Phil Castano, Carlos Rodriquez, Dale Coppola and Keith Williams. Up from the junior varsity are Dennis Bragg, Roy Jacobs, Carl Relyea, Pete Mazzetti, Tim Papek, Bob Feasel, Mike Morano and Tom Iorlano.

All-County, All-UCAL stars Joe Skipp and Charlie Scott were lost to graduation, as were Tony Biancardi, Tom DiStasi and Dan Stoorza.

Skipp was an outstanding pitcher, but Atkins feels that the chucking will be sound.

"We should have solid pitching, hitting and fielding," said Atkins. "However, it will take some varsity level play from up and coming JVs to make the difference for us. I feel that Rondout, New Paltz and Marlboro are the teams to beat," he concluded.

The Young Indians

"We are in a Youth Movement," said Onteora coach Rod Patrick. "It could take all day to tell you how many and who graduated. It's quicker if I tell you who returned." OCS was 6-6 in the league, 9-7 overall.

Patrick, in his first year as varsity baseball coach for the Indians, has only one full time starter back from last year's squad. He is third baseman Mike Donovan.

Others with experience are: Wayne Fredericks, Pete Johnson, Mike Gross, Dick Nissen. Up from the JVs are Dan Brown, Bob Johnson and Don Wells.

"The rest of the team is sophomores," said Patrick. "I expect that our pitchers will be Bruce Hurley, Dan Brown and Bob Johnson. Donovan, Brown and Bob Johnson should handle the hitting. After that, I'm not too sure about anything," concluded the coach.

Dukes On Move

More than 50 boys showed up for the opening day tryouts for the Marlboro High School varsity and junior varsity baseball teams. And, from that group, varsity mentor Ed Sagarese and JV coach Neil Fino will make selections in an effort to turn the Dukes around from their 6-12, 1970 record.

Returning to the varsity fold are Rich Gerentine, a third baseman-pitcher; Jim Lyons, catcher; Pierre Ferguson, outfielder; George Fuhrman, outfielder; Lew Rhodes, pitcher; Rich Cutrone, third base; Tom Coupart, shortstop; Mike Lofaro, outfield.

Rhoades, Cutrone, Coupart and Lofaro are juniors, the other returnees are seniors.

The rest of the Dukes' roster includes Bob Salzano, Paul Kettner, Duane Martin, Vin Mannese, Joe Trapani, Charlie Jones and Tony Porpiglia.

Sagarese feels that his team can make the big move this season.

"We will be playing our home games at our new high school field this year. And this should help the boys," he stated. "The team has been working exceptionally hard and have shown signs of fine potential. If this continues, I am sure that we will improve on last year's sixth-place finish," he concluded.

Not much is known about Pine Bush and Wallkill. But, coaches rate the Bushmen as sleepers and Wallkill as an also ran.

State U Drops Baseball Opener

NEW PALTZ

When it's warm most other places it's still cold at the wide open New Paltz State baseball field. And when the home town Hawks are playing on a cold, blustery day, and getting creamed at that, things are even uncomfortable.

That's what happened here Tuesday as Quinnipiac College of Hamden, Conn., helped baptize new SU diamond Coach Pete Kramer in the tradition of recent seasons with a 13-1 bombing of New Paltz.

Actually it was Kramer's own team that did the initiating as they committed seven errors to go along with 10 walks allowed by NP hurlers and 11 hits slugged by Quinnipiac strikers.

The loss, though perhaps strange for Kramer, who was a winning coach at Saugerties High School, was not very new to the men in the New Paltz uniforms. The Hawks didn't win any games last season under Joe Owens and weren't much better in the previous campaign.

The current edition of State baseballers managed to stay in the opener for two innings. Then the roof started to crack and before long the plaster was all over their heads.

Quinnipiac scored three times in the third, capitalizing on an error by Shortstop Mike Scammacca, using a squeeze play, and then benefiting from chucker Rick Malke's wild pitch.

Malke, a freshman, was to throw another one astray in the fourth to help Quinnipiac score again. He gave up seven runs on just four hits in his five inning stint.

Dennis Briggs followed allowing five runs and five hits in three innings, and Sandy Strauss mopped up with a one inning damage report of a run and two hits.

New Paltz scored its lone run in the bottom of the third when it still counted as Vince Schettini lined a double to left and raced home on Joe DeRosa's two-bagger.

"We're going to be better than this," Coach Kramer said, warming up in his office afterwards. "One thing for sure, it's too cold to be playing baseball."

The Hawk mentor had to go without second baseman Terry Rancier, out with a pulled hamstring muscle, and Bernie Schaeffer, the shortstop, who decided to hang up his spikes.

New Paltz's next regular season game is not until after the College's Easter vacation, but the team will gather on Long Island for three scrimmages next week against Suffolk Community, Nassau Community, and Stony Brook State.

Arlington Zips Red Hook, 2-0

ARLINGTON

Two Arlington High School pitchers held Red Hook to just one hit in a five inning game as the home town Admirals beat the Raiders, 2-0, here Tuesday.

Red Hook hurlers Jeff Thompson and Ron Camisasca were almost as tough as they allowed only three singletons, but it was enough to give Arlington the win.

Bob Young was the starter for Arlington and he struck out seven during his stay on the mound. Art Morbito finished up.

Sal Magley was the only Red Hook player to reach safely as he singled.

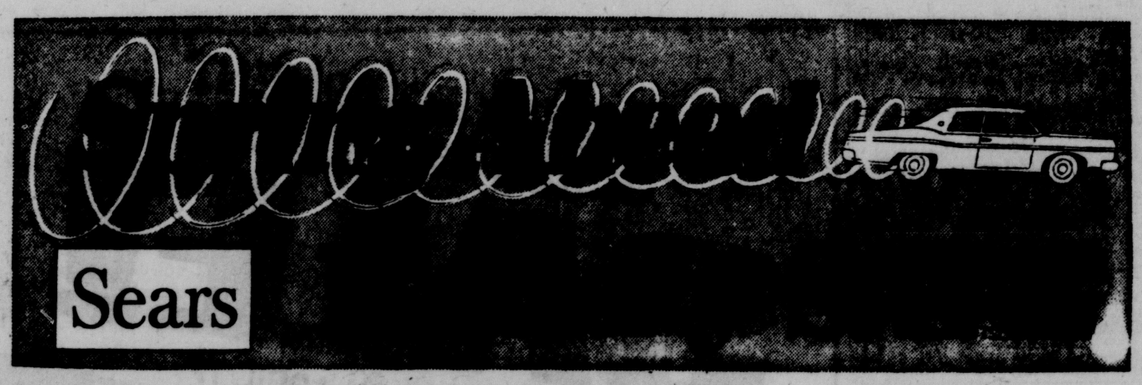

Arlington scored both runs in their half of the third. With one out, Pat Burke walked, went to second on a passed ball, and scampered across on Cal Reuping's single. Young then slugged a base hit to bring Reuping home.

Roth runs were off Thompson, who went the first three innings.

Red Hook opens at home today against Brewster.

PRELUDE TO A BRAWL — Like modern dancers, Rick Barry (L) of New York Nets and Neil Johnson of the Virginia Squires grapple for ball in ABA playoff at New York. Both were later involved in free for all near the end of the game. New York won 135-131 cutting Squires' margin to 2-1 in Eastern Division playoffs. UPI TELEPHOTO).

Knicks Old Magic Is Still Working

Walt Frazier scored 24 points and Willis Reed tallied the deciding basket with six seconds remaining Tuesday night, as the defending champion New York Knicks edged the Baltimore Bullets 112-111 in the opener of their NBA Eastern Division playoff finals at New York.

Reed's 15-foot jumper provided the needed cushion for the Knicks since Jack Marin's basket with two seconds left pulled Baltimore within one point of New York.

Baltimore, which protested the game, because of an alleged 24 second violation, held a 102-101 lead with 3:50 remaining when Dave DeBusschere suddenley got hot with three baskets to give New York a 108-105 margin. Earl Monroe's two foul shots cut the lead to one point but Frazier recaptured the three point margin with a spinning layup.

Monroe, who had game high 29 points, then netted two foul shots which left Baltimore trailing 110-109 before Reed scored his clutch basket. A balanced New York attack accounted for its victory. DeBusschere had 11 points, Dick Barnett 19, Reed 18 and Bill Bradley 15. Jack Marin had 23 and Kevin Loughery 22 for the Bullets.

Los Angeles Lakers beat the Chicago Bulls 109-98 to win their series 4-3 and move into the Western Conference finals against the Milwaukee Bucks. Gail Goodrich pumped in 29 points for the Lakers. Happy Hairston added 22 and Willt Chamberlain had a big night with 25 points and 19 rebounds. Jerry Sloan and Bob Love led Chicago with 24 points each.

In the ABA playoffs, the Utah Stars defeated the Texas Chaps 128-107 to eliminate thm in four straight. The New York Nets beat the Virginia Squires 135-131 for their first victory against two losses, while the Floridians also cut their deficit to 2-1 by tripping the Kentucky Colonels 12;0-102.

The Nets trailed 99-97 going into the final quarter but rallied behind the shooting of Rick Barry, who finished with 43 points. Barry was ejected from the game with 28 seconds left to play after he and teammates Jim Ard and Manny Leaks got into a fight with the Squires' Charlie Scott, Ray Scott and Neil Johnson.

Golf Buffs Still Remember Roberto's 'Dumb Scorecard'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Roberto De Vicenzo's "magnificent stupidity" killed the golfing gaucho's dreams of a Masters championship and the world refuses to forget.

"My dumb scorecard made me famous," he says, "but people can't remember who won the Masters that year. They have to ask me." Roberto knows.

It's been three years since the gent of the Argentine signed a miscounted scorecard, costing De Vicenzo a playoff spot and handing the title to Bob Goalby.

"No use crying the rest of my life," smiled the banana-nosed De Vicenzo. "I've won 130 tournaments in my career including the British Open. But, I wanted badly to win a major championship in the United States."

The friendly international golfing figure is one of 15 foreign golfers in Thursday's 77-man field for the 35th Masters. Goalby is here, too, but neither is rated among favored names such as Nicklaus, Player, Casper and Palmer.

The player in Thursday's field who really wants to forget the 1968 blunder is Georgia-born Tommy Aaron. It was Aaron, playing as Roberto's final round partner, who wrote a par 4 instead of the actual birdie 3 De Vicenzo scored on the 17th hole.

De Vicenzo failed to catch the mistake and, as the Masters crowd prepared for a playoff, word came that Roberto had erroneously charged himself an extra stroke.

Dukes Defeat Ellies, 6 to 4

ELLENVILE — Marlboro High School jumped out to a six run lead and by the time Ellenville started to come back it was too late as the visting Dukes beat the Ellies, 6-4, here Tuesday in varsity baseball.

The game was shorteed to six innings because of the cold weather and had it gone the full nine, the outcome might not have been the same since Ellenville scored all its runs in the last frame.

But the damage had already been done with Marlboro tallying three times in the third, twice in the fourth, and once in the fifth.

Ellenville Coach Don Frank had chosen to change pitchers every two innings. His first hurler, soph Bob Pnsa matched goose eggs with Marlboro's Charlie Jones.

However in the third with Kyle Hohr on the hill, Marlboro got on the board as Rich Gerentine reached on an error, Jones walked, and Lew Rhoades hit a windblown double for two runs. Another walk and a following single by Mike Lofaro produced the Dukes third score.

Marlboro sent two more home in the fourth as it loaded the bases then benefited from a walk and a fielder's choice.

George Furman's double set up the final run. The Duke left fielder followed the hit with a stolen base and then came in on a ground out.

Jones meanwhile, was shutting out Ellenville through four innings followed by one Manesse. The Ellies finally broke the ice when Pensa reached on an error, Jin Smith singled, and Glenn Horowitz walked to fill the sacks. Two more walks, a hit batsmen, and a force play gave the home team its total.

Marlboro is now 1-1. Ellenville, which goes to Pine Bush on Monday, is 0-1.

Schoneman Rolls 299-735

SAUGERTIES — The 12th ball was light mixer but the No. 5 just rested there defiantly as the other pins were swept off the pin deck. Bob Schoneman, looking for a little bit of bowling immortality, stood at the foul line immobilized for a few split seconds and then settled for a 299 solo.

It came in the first game of his weekly match in the Bowlers Club Major. He went on to add 223 and 213 for a 735 aggregate, his third "700" in the Major this season. He also rolled two other 700s in the Saugerties Bowling Association tournament.

Schoneman's 735, which ties Bob Shelightner for the No. 4 spot in the Top Ten, boosted his Major average to 201. He now ranks fourth in the league behind Herb Petersen, who moved to 208 with a runnerup 676 series; and Jack Farrell and Al North with 202 each.

All of Schoneman's first 11 strikes came on perfect pocket shots, except for a high cross hit that carried for a strike in the 7th frame. The 12th ball was light, but he got good pin action off the kickbacks except on the 5-pin.

Herb Petersen had highs of 224 and 268 enroute to the 676. Ray Christianna fired 210, 212-628; Bob McGee 222, 225-626; John Ceryanek 223, 210-613; Al North 221-619, Clifton Quick 215-609, Mike Barber 223, 213-606; Bill Terwilliger Sr., 219-605, Jack Hoff 207-603, Ed Riozzi 225-602, Mike Dodig 235-605.

Riozzi Brothers led team solos with 1061. Johnson Ford had 1029, 1000-2959 high series. Schovel's posted 1002 and Peerless Paper 1003.

In a postponed match, Mike Barber decked 236, 219-644; Mike Dodig 235-603 and Clifton Quick 235, 224-610.

Mike Stabile (643) and Dan Daddio were second with 1236. Angelo DeGregoria and Ken Joseph (647) took third on 1200.

Louis Eccleston and Kevin Jones locked up the Junior Boys title with 1203, Eccleston grossing 649. Second place went to Jeff Houtman (640) and Steve Schoemer with 1173. Mark Brown and Ed Brown took third with 1146.

Coleman Annexes 3-1 Win in Opener

MARLBORO — The John A. Coleman High School baseball team opened the 1971 season with a 3-1 victory over host Marlboro in a non-league contest.

Mike Droulette, veteran hurler for the Statesmen, authored a three-hitter to gain the decision over the Dukes' ace, Rich Gerentine.

Gerentine, although striking out 12, had control problems and walked five while allowing six hits. Droulette fanned just three, but issued but one free pass.

The Statesmen pecked away at Gerentine for single runs in the third, fourth and sixth innings, with walks figuring in each of the runs.

Don Hastings and Ed Mathieu had two hits apiece for the winners, with Joel Sickler and Mike Eigo adding one apiece. All the hits in the contest were singles.

Gerentine, Jones and Kettner had the only hits for the Dukes and Gerentine accounted for his team's only run when Droulette lost his shutout in the bottom of the sixth of the six-inning contest.

SSL Fast-Pitch Division Holds Draft for Hurlers

SAUGERTIES — Teams in the "A" Division to be known as the Red Division of the Saugerties Softball League recently conducted a draft of the top hurlers available to insure strength and balance in the fast-pitch division.

The four-team league, playing the only fast-pitch softball on a regular basis between Poughkeepsie and Albany, pooled six of the eight pitchers. A flip of the coin decided the first pick.

Buono - McConekey Funeral Home, managed by Dick Miller, won the toss and selected Billy Stokes of Kingston. Columbia Auto Parts was then permitted to pick twice and selected standout Bill Fiscaletti and Gene Palladino.

The original idea of a complete pool of pitchers was dropped and, as a result, the Glasco Athletic Club retained the services of ace chucker, Frank Allen, while Bob (Mouse) Wolven, another league stalwart, stayed with the S and C Shoe Company, formerly known as South Side Men's Club.

In addition to the fast pitch group, the Saugerties Softball League will operate B and C divisions in which lob-ball pitching isn't required, but windmill pitching is prohibited. Sixteen teams have enrolled as the 12th consecutive campaigns get under way on Monday, May 17.

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Akio Usami of Japan led 30 distance runners from 16 countries and 40 Greek track men to the finish line Tuesday as he won the ninth classical marathon in the time of 2 hours 19:25. Australian John Farrington was second in 2:21.56 and New Zealander Jack Foster finished third in 2:22.29.

PRELUDE TO A BRAWL — Like modern dancers, Rick Barry (L) of New York Nets and Neil Johnson of the Virginia Squires grapple for ball in ABA playoff at New York. Both were later involved in free for all near the end of the game. New York won 135-131 cutting Squires' margin to 2-1 in Eastern Division playoffs. UPI TELEPHOTO).

Dukes Defeat Ellies, 6 to 4

ELLENVILE — Marlboro High School jumped out to a six run lead and by the time Ellenville started to come back it was too late as the visting Dukes beat the Ellies, 6-4, here Tuesday in varsity baseball.

The game was shorteed to six innings because of the cold weather and had it gone the full nine, the outcome might not have been the same since Ellenville scored all its runs in the last frame.

But the damage had already been done with Marlboro tallying three times in the third, twice in the fourth, and once in the fifth.

Ellenville Coach Don Frank had chosen to change pitchers every two innings. His first hurler, soph Bob Pnsa matched goose eggs with Marlboro's Charlie Jones.

However in the third with Kyle Hohr on the hill, Marlboro got on the board as Rich Gerentine reached on an error, Jones walked, and Lew Rhoades hit a windblown double for two runs. Another walk and a following single by Mike Lofaro produced the Dukes third score.

Marlboro sent two more home in the fourth as it loaded the bases then benefited from a walk and a fielder's choice.

George Furman's double set up the final run. The Duke left fielder followed the hit with a stolen base and then came in on a ground out.

Jones meanwhile, was shutting out Ellenville through four innings followed by one Manesse. The Ellies finally broke the ice when Pensa reached on an error, Jin Smith singled, and Glenn Horowitz walked to fill the sacks. Two more walks, a hit batsmen, and a force play gave the home team its total.

Marlboro is now 1-1. Ellenville, which goes to Pine Bush on Monday, is 0-1.

Knicks Old Magic Is Still Working

Walt Frazier scored 24 points and Willis Reed tallied the deciding basket with six seconds remaining Tuesday night, as the defending champion New York Knicks edged the Baltimore Bullets 112-111 in the opener of their NBA Eastern Division playoff finals at New York.

Reed's 15-foot jumper provided the needed cushion for the Knicks since Jack Marin's basket with two seconds left pulled Baltimore within one point of New York.

Baltimore, which protested the game, because of an alleged 24 second violation, held a 102-101 lead with 3:50 remaining when Dave DeBusschere suddenley got hot with three baskets to give New York a 108-105 margin. Earl Monroe's two foul shots cut the lead to one point but Frazier recaptured the three point margin with a spinning layup.

Monroe, who had game high 29 points, then netted two foul shots which left Baltimore trailing 110-109 before Reed scored his clutch basket. A balanced New York attack accounted for its victory. DeBusschere had 11 points, Dick Barnett 19, Reed 18 and Bill Bradley 15. Jack Marin had 23 and Kevin Loughery 22 for the Bullets.

Los Angeles Lakers beat the Chicago Bulls 109-98 to win their series 4-3 and move into the Western Conference finals against the Milwaukee Bucks. Gail Goodrich pumped in 29 points for the Lakers. Happy Hairston added 22 and Willt Chamberlain had a big night with 25 points and 19 rebounds. Jerry Sloan and Bob Love led Chicago with 24 points each.

In the ABA playoffs, the Utah Stars defeated the Texas Chaps 128-107 to eliminate thm in four straight. The New York Nets beat the Virginia Squires 135-131 for their first victory against two losses, while the Floridians also cut their deficit to 2-1 by tripping the Kentucky Colonels 12;0-102.

The Nets trailed 99-97 going into the final quarter but rallied behind the shooting of Rick Barry, who finished with 43 points. Barry was ejected from the game with 28 seconds left to play after he and teammates Jim Ard and Manny Leaks got into a fight with the Squires' Charlie Scott, Ray Scott and Neil Johnson.

Golf Buffs Still Remember Roberto's 'Dumb Scorecard'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Roberto De Vicenzo's "magnificent stupidity" killed the golfing gaucho's dreams of a Masters championship and the world refuses to forget.

"My dumb scorecard made me famous," he says, "but people can't remember who won the Masters that year. They have to ask me." Roberto knows.

It's been three years since the gent of the Argentine signed a miscounted scorecard, costing De Vicenzo a playoff spot and handing the title to Bob Goalby.

"No use crying the rest of my life," smiled the banana-nosed De Vicenzo. "I've won 130 tournaments in my career including the British Open. But, I wanted badly to win a major championship in the United States."

The friendly international golfing figure is one of 15 foreign golfers in Thursday's 77-man field for the 35th Masters. Goalby is here, too, but neither is rated among favored names such as Nicklaus, Player, Casper and Palmer.

The player in Thursday's field who really wants to forget the 1968 blunder is Georgia-born Tommy Aaron. It was Aaron, playing as Roberto's final-round partner, who wrote a par 4 instead of the actual birdie 3 De Vicenzo scored on the 17th hole.

De Vicenzo failed to catch the mistake and, as the Masters crowd prepared for a playoff, word came that Roberto had erroneously charged himself an extra stroke.

FLORIDA-BOUND — Ray Lindhorst (C) pitcher and outfielder for the Husson College Braves (Bangor, Maine) left this week for a warm-weather workout in St. Petersburg, Fla. Lindhorst, a junior majoring in marketing, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Lindhorst of 11 Marius Street, Kingston. Talking with him about the college's first southern baseball trip are Coach Delmont N. Merrill (L) and Husson president, Dr. Barkev Kibarian. (Wilber photo).

Schoneman Rolls 299-735

SAUGERTIES — The 12th ball was light mixer but the No. 5 just rested there defiantly as the other pins were swept off the pin deck. Bob Schoneman, looking for a little bit of bowling immortality, stood at the foul line immobilized for a few split seconds and then settled for a 299 solo.

It came in the first game of his weekly match in the Bowlers Club Major. He went on to add 223 and 213 for a 735 aggregate, his third "700" in the Major this season. He also rolled two other 700s in the Saugerties Bowling Association tournament.

Schoneman's 735, which ties Bob Shelightner for the No. 4 spot in the Top Ten, boosted his Major average to 201. He now ranks fourth in the league behind Herb Petersen, who moved to 208 with a runnerup 676 series; and Jack Farrell and Al North with 202 each.

All of Schoneman's first 11 strikes came on perfect pocket shots, except for a high cross hit that carried for a strike in the 7th frame. The 12th ball was light, but he got good pin action off the kickbacks except on the 5-pin.

Herb Petersen had highs of 224 and 268 enroute to the 676. Ray Christianna fired 210, 212-628; Bob McGee 222, 225-626; John Ceryanek 223, 210-613; Al North 221-619, Clifton Quick 215-609, Mike Barber 223, 213-606; Bill Terwilliger Sr., 219-605, Jack Hoff 207-603, Ed Riozzi 225-602, Mike Dodig 235-605.

Riozzi Brothers led team solos with 1061. Johnson Ford had 1029, 1000-2959 high series. Schovel's posted 1002 and Peerless Paper 1003.

In a postponed match, Mike Barber decked 236, 219-644; Mike Dodig 235-603 and Clifton Quick 235, 224-610.

Sharnet-Curran Senior Boys Champs

KINGSTON — Bruce Sharnet and Mike Curran combined for a gross 1262 to capture first place in the Senior Boys title in the Senior Boys division of the Ulster County Junior Bowling Association Tournament. Sharnet furnished 563 net and 659 gross. Curran had 534-603, as they rolled with 165 handicap.

Mike Stabile (643) and Dan Daddio were second with 1236. Angelo DeGregoria and Ken Joseph (647) took third on 1200.

Louis Eccleston and Kevin Jones locked up the Junior Boys title with 1203, Eccleston grossing 649. Second place went to Jeff Houtman (640) and Steve Schoemer with 1173. Mark Brown and Ed Brown took third with 1146.

Bill Cadden (244-547 net) and Richard Rogaski led the Bantam Boys with 1069. Joe Chaturma and Rich Ryan placed second with 997 and Kevin Silk and Michael Smith placed third with 964.

Pam Horner and Karen O'Reilly captured Junior Girls honors with 1136. Pam grossed 613 and Karen 523. Runnersup were Linda Fusaro and Susan Fortner with 1104. Gail Cadden and Rene Larson placed third with 1078.

Betty Lynn Sichel and Kathy O'Brien rolled 933 for the Bantam Girls title. Laureen VanTassel and Jean Haines were second with 931, while Lisa Taylor and Marcea Wilson placed third with 929.

Coleman Annexes 3-1 Win in Opener

MARLBORO — The John A. Coleman High School baseball team opened the 1971 season with a 3-1 victory over host Marlboro in a non-league contest.

Mike Droulette, veteran hurler for the Statesmen, authored a three-hitter to gain the decision over the Dukes' ace, Rich Gerentine.

Gerentine, although striking out 12, had control problems and walked five while allowing six hits. Droulette fanned just three, but issued but one free pass.

The Statesmen pecked away at Gerentine for single runs in the third, fourth and sixth innings, with walks figuring in each of the runs.

Don Hastings and Ed Mathieu had two hits apiece for the winners, with Joel Sickler and Mike Eigo adding one apiece. All the hits in the contest were singles.

Gerentine, Jones and Kettner had the only hits for the Dukes and Gerentine accounted for his team's only run when Droulette lost his shutout in the bottom of the sixth of the six-inning contest.

SSL Fast-Pitch Division Holds Draft for Hurlers

SAUGERTIES — Teams in the "A" Division to be known as the Red Division of the Saugerties Softball League recently conducted a draft of the top hurlers available to insure strength and balance in the fast-pitch division.

The four-team league, playing the only fast-pitch softball on a regular basis between Poughkeepsie and Albany, pooled six of the eight pitchers. A flip of the coin decided the first pick.

Buono - McConekey Funeral Home, managed by Dick Miller, won the toss and selected Billy Stokes of Kingston. Columbia Auto Parts was then permitted to pick twice and selected standout Bill Fiscaletti and Gene Palladino.

The original idea of a complete pool of pitchers was dropped and, as a result, the Glasco Athletic Club retained the services of ace chucker, Frank Allen, while Bob (Mouse) Wolven, another league stalwart, stayed with the S and C Shoe Company, formerly known as South Side Men's Club.

In addition to the fast pitch group, the Saugerties Softball League will operate B and C divisions in which lob-ball pitching isn't required, but windmill pitching is prohibited. Sixteen teams have enrolled as the 12th consecutive campaigns get under way on Monday, May 17.

ATHENS, Greece (UPI)— Akio Usami of Japan led 30 distance runners from 16 countries and 40 Greek track men to the finish line Tuesday as he won the ninth classical marathon in the time of 2 hours 19:25. Australian John Farrington was second in 2:21.56 and New Zealander Jack Foster finished third in 2:22.29.

Plan Festival for Senior Citizens

KINGSTON

Plans for a gala Senior Citizens spring festival, at no charge to senior citizens, will be held on Saturday, April 17, the the Senior Citizens Lounge of the Salvation Army, 94 North Front Street, according to Alexander Yosman, coordinator of the Senior Citizens Advisory Council.

The party, to honor Senior Citizens of the county, is being sponsored by the Ulster Kiwanis Club, Salvation Army and the Senior Citizens Advisory Council. Plans call for the serving of a full course dinner starting at 11 a.m.

Yosman stressed that there is no charge or admission for any Senior Citizen to attend this event and he urged all Senior Citizens to make plans to attend. "After the long winter this will give many of our Senior Citizens a chance to meet their friends and have a sociable hour," he added. Yosman was pleased to see that the Ulster Kiwanis Club has agreed to be a sponsor of this gala event. He said it is most gratifying to see that our service clubs of the area are aware that we do have Senior Citizens and they are willing to assist in whatever way possible.

Roger Scholl, president of the Ulster Kiwanis Club said that the club was happy to be one of the sponsors of this event. The Ulster Kiwanis Club is aware of the contribution that the Senior Citizens of the county have made in the past and they feel that this is one small way to acknowledge their work.

Yosman indicated that further information, including the reservation procedure, will be forthcoming.

Resolution for Railpax Introduced by Rep. Kemp

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Railroad Passenger Corporation would receive an additional $289.9 million to extend its northern east-west Railpax routes under legislation proposed Tuesday by a bi-partisan group of 22 congressmen.

One of the proposal's major recommendations is a rail passenger route that would link Buffalo, N.Y. to Chicago through Cleveland, Ohio.

The resolution, which also calls for "research and development of high speed ground transportation," was introduced in the house by Rep. Jack F. Kemp, R-N.Y., and cosponsored by 21 other congressmen. It is expected to be introduced in the Senate next week by Ohio Republican Robert Taft Jr.

Under the government's present Railpax plan, Cleveland will not have rail passenger service unless the Kemp proposal is approved, and service west of Buffalo, where Kemp, a Republican, lives, would be eliminated.

Railpax is scheduled to put a limited number of rail passenger routes into service by May 1.

Of the additional funds being sought to add to the $40 million already approved for Railpax, some $217 million would fund and upgrade recommended rail passenger lines along proposed east-west routes.

Included in the proposed routes are lines linking Buffalo, N.Y., and Erie, Pa., Cleveland and Toledo, Ohio, South Bend, Ind. Chicago, and a connecting link between Detroit, Mich., and Toledo.

Other recommended westward Railpax routes contained in the resolution include Washington, D.C., to Cleveland via Cumberland, Md., Pittsburgh, Youngstown, and Akron.

Four Indicted In Upstate Stolen Auto Ring

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Four persons, including a suspended city policeman, were named Tuesday in a 91-count indictment involving some 20 stolen automobiles valued in excess of $80,000.

Patrolman Richard A. Gesegnet, 40, of Buffalo pleaded innocent at his arraignment before Erie County Court Judge Ernest L. Colucci. He was released on $2,500 bail.

The three other defendants were identified as Carl P. May of the Town of Boston, Arthur Loraanty and Anthony Alessandra, both of Buffalo.

Gesegnet, a 17-year veteran of the city police force, was accused in connection with two cars which authorities alleged were stolen from dealers in the City of Tonawanda and in Buffalo in 1969.

The specific charges against Gesegnet included second degree grand larceny, criminal possession of stolen property and making a false statement on a registration certificate.

Dist. Atty. Michael F. Dillon said the indictment stems from a one-year investigation which resulted in a raid last July 10 in Buffalo and the discovery of several stolen cars, boats, outboard motors and trailers.

Gesegnet resides at 590 Kensington Ave.; May at 5557 Ripple Drive; Loraanty at 94 Norwalk Ave., and Alessandra on Elmwood Ave.

U.S. Accepts Table Tennis Invitation

NAGOYA, Japan (UPI)—Communist China issued an invitation today to U.S. table tennis players to visit Peking and the Americans accepted.

The trip will be the first visit by an organized group of Americans since the Communists took over China in 1949, although there have been visits by individuals.

Rufford Harrison, an American Table Tennis Federation official, received the invitation from Sung Chung, secretary general of the Communist Chinese delegation to the 31st World Table Tennis Championships, which have been underway in this Japanese city 182 miles southwest of Tokyo. Harrison accepted the invitation later in the day.

Harrison said the team tentatively is set to leave Japan for Peking April 15.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

UNNOTICED: (Q.) Girls don't pay me any attention. I dress neatly and keep my hair in place.

It's blonde. I have brown eyes and a fair complexion and am 13, but girls don't pay me any attention. Why? — Lonesome in Oklahoma.

(A.) A girl pays attention to a boy who pays attention to her. That is, if he looks and acts the right way.

You seem to look all right, but you must start acting differently. Be friendly with the girls. Talk to them. Smile at them. Make them feel important.

As you make them feel important, they'll begin to think you're important, and they'll pay attention to you.

UNASKED: (Q.) Nobody ever asks me to a dance. I'm a good dancer. When they play a fast dance I dance it singly and everybody can see I'm a good dancer

But nobody asks me. How can I get them to ask me? — 13 in Detroit.

(A.) Boys your age are likely to be a little timid. They are especially likely to be timid around a girl they think might think might show them up.

So stop doing those single dances to show how good you are.

Instead, try to make some friends, both boys and girls, and go with them in a group to the dances.

As the boys get to know you better, they will ask you to dance.

Century Mixer Didn't Work

NEW YORK (AP) — "The American Revolution," CBS's two-a-year series which will end during the nation's bicentennial year of 1976, had its premiere Tuesday night. It was a no-script interview between Eric Sevareid as a 1971 journalist and Lord Frederick North, King George III's prime minister during the difficulty with the American colonies, played by Peter Ustinov.

The idea is to present circumstances surrounding the birth of the nation in a fashion between the techniques of the old "You Are There" shows and "The Dick Cavett Show."

Sad to relate, the mixture of 18th century subject and 20th century interviewer just didn't work, either as a device to enliven history or as entertainment.

Ustinov and Sevareid had done a lot of boning up on their subject. During a prologue when Ustinov was shown getting shaved and made up in his 1770 costume, he discussed how he proposed to play the king's prime minister, even to the tone of voice he would use.

When he sat down for the interview, Ustinov continued to be, in the eye of the viewer, an actor playing a part and indulding himself by fencing—often wittily—with his questioner instead of a man explaining why he had acted against the Colonies.

The program was taped at Wroxton Abbey, Lord North's home, but it might as well have been made in a New York or Hollywood studio. The whole thing added up to a television stunt, and a pretty boring one at that.

NBC's "First Tuesday" was devoted to an assortment of features on contemporary living. Perhaps the most appealing was a report on the Kienast quintuplets after their first birthday. They are cute healthy babies but their parents are not rich. It seems there are no takers for commercials using the quints since big families are out of style, according to Mrs. Kienast.

There was a long and sometimes grisly segment about a British fox hunt—it seemed that the profox side had all the advantages in the narration.

CBS also showed a half-hour report on changes along the ecological front since Earth Day a year ago. Narrator Walter Cronkite summarized that the most important result has been public concern about pollution, but that quality is worse.

Opening lead—♠4

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand is taken from the section of "Win at Bridge with JACOBY MODERN" that deals with the play of the cards.

West opens the four of spades and the first rule of play the hand illustrates is the old one of second hand low. The seven should be played from dummy. This play insures two spade tricks for declarer regardless of how the spade suit is devided.

After winning the first trick South is looking at three heart tricks and two diamond tricks but they aren't going to get away from him. Instead, South should work on the suit in which he can develop tricks. That is clubs and he simply plays clubs until East takes his ace. He will wind up making a least 10 tricks after this simple start.

This hand is simple indeed. Now, change South's spade holding to ace-three-two. With this holding he should forget about second hand low and play dummy's queen of spades since that is the only way to get some good out of that card under these circumstances.

East will cover with the king and now South must follow another basic principle of play to make the contract. He must hold back his ace of spades until the third lead. Then he goes about the business of knocking out the ace of clubs and when East gets in he won't have a spade to lead to his partner.

In Saigon It's Speculation Time on U.S. Strength

SAIGON (AP) — The strongest speculation in Saigon in advance of President Nixon's broadcast is that U.S. troop strength in Vietnam will be cut to between 100,000 and 150,000 during the next eight months.

Official sources noted that two major tactical headquarters will be phased out during the next few months. These are the U.S. 2nd Field Force controlling American combat troops in the Saigon region and the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force commanding Marines in the Da Nang area.

A total of 301,900 American troops were reported in Vietnam on April 1. Nixon announced last year that the authorized ceiling would be reduced to 284,000 by May 1, but sources said the actual strength would drop to perhaps 275,000 during the next three weeks.

During the eight months from May 1 until Jan. 1, Nixon is expected to cut strength by 12,500 to 18,000 troops a month, sources said. The President is to announce the rate in a speech tonight.

The remaining 18,500 Marines in Vietnam will be out by the end of June, and the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force disbanded. The Saigon region will be left with one brigade of about 5,000 combat troops by May 1.

Meanwhile, both South Vietnamese and North Vietnamese forces were reported to have suffered heavy losses in fighting Monday and Tuesday in eastern Cambodia near the town of Snuol on Highway 7. Snuol is about eight miles from the Vietnamese border and about 90 miles north of Saigon.

A South Vietnamese communique claimed that 256 North Vietnamese were killed with the help of U.S. fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships. However, the U.S. Command reported 48 enemy killed by air strikes, and the South Vietnamese reported only three weapons captured.

Field reports said more than 60 South Vietnamese troops were killed, but a communique reported two killed, six missing and 58 wounded.

North Vietnamese forces also kept up harassing attacks against U.S. and South Vietnamese forces in the northern and central sectors of South Vietnam.

There were no reports of new fighting in the northern central highlands near the triborder juncture of Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam. But the Vietnamese rushed several battalions of reinforcements to the Dak To Ben Het region.

Fighting broke out in the southern sector of the highlands near a fire base called Lonely. Twenty-one North Vietnamese troops were reported killed in sporadic clashes around the base Tuesday. A Saigon communique said one South Vietnamese soldier was killed and four were wounded.

Government officials in Saigon reported that the bodies of 18 more South Vietnamese civilians murdered during the 1968 Tet offensive have been uncovered hear Hue.

CHARGES AND DENIALS — House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs (L) said Tuesday the FBI has had him under personal surveillance and repeated charges that the agency had tapped the phones of members of Congress. The White House, Attorney General John N. Mitchell and the FBI denied the allegations by Boggs. On the House floor with Boggs listening, two Democrats also questioned Boggs' assertion that the FBI tapped Congressional phones and challenged his demand that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover (R) be compelled to resign. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Three to Sue on War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three congressmen say they will sue President Nixon charging he has denied them their constitutional right to declare war. They seek to end the U.S. role in Vietnam within 60 days unless Congress acts.

Reps. Parren J. Mitchell, D-Md., Michael Harrington, D-Mass., and Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., and said their suit will be filed in U.S. District Court here.

The action is another attempt at getting the Supreme Court to rule on the legality of the war in Indochina, something repeatedly has refused to do. The congressmen's suit appears the most direct approach tried so far.

"Article 1, Section 8, Clause II of the United States Constitution states in clear and unequivocal language that Congress shall have the power to declare war," the congressmen said. "Congress has not exercised that power.

"It has passed no legislation or joint resolution declaring war in Indochina, now has it explicitly, intentionally, and discretely authorized the war."

By prosecuting the war without such a declaration, the suit claims, the President and other executive branch officials "unlawfully impair and defeat plaintiffs' constitutional right as members of the Congress of the United States, to decide whether the United States should fight a war."

Rosenthal, Mitchell and Harrington want the court to order the President to stop fighting the war unless within 60 days Congress authorizes it in the proper constitutional manner.

Secondly, they ask a judgment that the executive branch is acting in violation of the Constitution.

Among the lawyers listed as preparing the suit are Lawrence Velvel of the University of Kansas law school, Anthony A. D'Amato of Northwestern and Robert J. Vollen of Chicago.

Velvel and D'Amato were involved with Massachusetts legislation giving legal help to any citizen ordered to fight in an undeclared war.

Calley Prosecutor Hits Intervention

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army officer who prosecuted Lt. William L. Calley Jr. has charged President Nixon weakened the judicial system and helped make a hero out of a convicted murderer when he responded to a public outcry by intervening in the case.

Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III also told Nixon in a letter it would be a tragedy if "political expediency" dictated a compromise of a "fundamental moral principle" involved in the slaying of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai in 1968.

"I have been particularly shocked and dismayed at your decision to intervene in these proceedings in the midst of the public clamor," Daniel wrote. "Your decision can only have been prompted by the response of a vocal segment of our population, who while no doubt acting in good faith, cannot be aware of the evidence which resulted in Lieutenant Calley's conviction."

Daniel, 29, served as prosecutor in the court-martial, which resulted last week in Calley being sentenced to life in prison for the murder of 22 Vietnamese civilians. The President ordered Calley released from the stockade at Ft. Benning, Ga., and confined to quarters on the post. Last Saturday, during public protests against the conviction, Nixon announced he would make the final review and judgment of the sentence.

Daniel wrote the letter Saturday after the President's decision was announced. He sent copies to six U.S. senators, and they were made available to the press Tuesday.

Sen. Robert Taft Jr., one of the senators who received a copy, criticized Daniel today. Taft said that while he believed the reaction against Calley's conviction was "ill informed and in error," he believed Nixon had "shown courage" in deciding to make the "ultimate decision."

Golda Meir Gets Backing

By United Press International

Israel's ruling Labor party today backed Prime Minister Golda Meir's Middle East peace stance, including refusal to withdraw to boundaries that existed before the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

The 3,000 delegates to a party conference voted their approval in setting their platform for national elections Mrs. Meir must call before 1972. The Labor party, led by Mrs. Meir, has an overwhelming majority in the current coalition government.

Israeli policy, as outlined by Mrs. Meir to the conference Sunday, also ruled out international guarantees as a substitute for borders Israel can defend. Mrs. Meir said Israel will not withdraw from the Gaza Strip, the Golan Heights in Syria, the old section of Jerusalem or Sharm el Sheikh on the tip of the Sinai peninsula, all taken in the 1967 conflict.

This left the west bank of Jordan and the Sinai as Israeli-held territory to be used in negotiations with the Arabs.
